Thanksgiving Day Finds All Seeking Peace

World Half at War as Nation Marks Holiday

By The Associated Press

A nation half at war will observe Thanksgiving day tomorrow while its leaders search for peace throughout an uneasy world.

In the United States, turkey will be plentiful but expensive. The day will sparkle with warmer weather in the east, with football games everywhere.

Halfway across the world, in grimy Panmunjom, American officers have promised an answer to the latest Communist counterproposal for a cease fire in Korea. There was cautious optimism that both sides are coming closer together on the first of several difficult problems to be solved before guns are stilled.

Some Must Wait

Combat men will pause, where ever possible, to commemorate a day halfway between peace and all-out war. For most, the army says, there will be turkey dinners and the trimmings. Some, on the battlefront may have to wait for theirs.

Casualty lists, always two weeks or more behind the developments, have passed to total of 100,000 Americans killed, wounded or missing in Korea.

Ridgway Gives Thanks

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in Tokyo, gave thanks on behalf of his fighting men in Korea.

He thanked 'Almighty God for the bounty he has provided" and added in a statement: "We thank him also for the opportunity given us of meeting again, as men, the challenge of barbarism once before overcome by the pilgrim settlers of Massachusetts."

The field commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, told his troops:

"As a freedom-loving people we give thanks for the early warning the Communist gave us regarding his aggressive intentions. And we say a prayer of thanks for the men who gallantly laid down their lives that we might live to further resist the enemy and ultimately eliminate his threat."

Speed Defense

At almost the other end of the world, international military and political leaders are meeting in an effort to speed the buildup of European strength to a point where they say it may prevent a Russian attack.

In Rome, top American and European military officials are seeking the practical military power which they consider Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's international army needs.

At Paris, the United Nations is trying amid pessimism to find a political meeting ground between the West and the East on disarmament.

Leave for Florida

At home President and Mrs. Truman left Washington at 9 a.m. (CST) today for Thanksgiving at Key West, Fla. With them were Chief Justice and Mrs. Vinson and several White House officials.

The weather bureau reported warmer temperatures for the easten half of trhe country, with cold and snow for many western areas

Three European war orphans, treated to a Thanksgiving dinner in Hollywood, were served first with traditional black bread soup. It was symbolic, and no one ate it.

Hopes Brighter For Armistice By Christmas

UN Negotiators Study New Plan For Truce Zone

MUNSAN, Korea—(AP)—Truce hopes brightened today when Communist negotiators submitted a cease-fire plan of their own that could open the way for a Korean armistice by Christmas.

It was similar to a United Nations plan for creating a buffer zone along the present fighting line to take effect if an Armistice is signed within 30 days.

A U.N. command communique referred to the resemblance as superficial.

Near Solution

But the command's official spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, said if the Red plan "means what we think it means then I think we are very close to solution" of the buffer zone question.

The point in doubt was whether the Communist proposal means "that troops will be withdrawn from the buffer zone after an armistice is signed" as the U.N. has proposed.

After the Communists submitted their counterproposal at Panmunjom at Wednesday's two-hour truce session, Allied negotiators tried to determine whether the Reds contemplated an immediate or delayed withdrawal from a buffer zone to be created along the present front.

Revisions Necessary

At the close of the session Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, heading the U.N. subcommittee, told the Red delegates "we will present you with the necessary revisions to clear up this proposal" at Thursday's meeting. It is set for 11 a.m. (8 p.m. Wednesday CST).

Under questioning of Hodes. North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho said "the troops will be withdrawn after the agreement is signed."

He did not say whether he referred to the cease-fire line proposal now before the subcommit-

France Broke; May Need US Dollars Soon

Congress May Be Asked for Special Aid Appropriation

WASHINGTON — (AP)—An urgent request from France for fast dollar assistance from the U. S. today heightened the possibility that the administration may ask congress early next year for a special foreign aid appropriation.

Britain is in about the same economic plight as France. In fact, almost all this country's European allies were described by authorities as requiring considerable help to maintain their defense production and their scheduled contributions to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Western European military force.

Decision Soon

Officials told newsmen that within the next few days the U.S. government will probably make a final decision on how much help the French need. Estimates range from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000.

Congress this fall voted a mutual security appropriation totalling $7,328,000,000. Of that $1,022,000,000 was earmarked for economic aid—primarily for Western Europe.

Officials said certain required expenditures out of this economic aid fund leave a net amount for distribution among U.S. allies in Europe of $950,000,000.

Congress also specified that up to 10 per cent of the military equipment funds might be diverted to economic aid, a net of about $580,000,000.

Dixon Girl Falls From Car, Injured

A nine-year-old Dixon girl is reported "resting quietly" at KSB hospital after being jolted from a car driven by her mother this morning on her way to Bible school.

Janice Trader was flung from a car driven by Mrs. Marie Trader, Rock Island road, at the corner of Fourth street and Douglas avenue.

She landed on her shoulder at the side of the intersection causing face lacerations and bruises, police reported. According to hospital authorities the full extent of her injuries is not known as X-rays have not yet been taken.

Mrs. Trader told police she stopped at the intersection to let her daughter out of the car to attend Bible school at Lincoln school and when Janice opened the door of the car on the right hand side, the jolt of stopping threw her out of the car.

Other passengers in the car were a brother, John Trader jr., and a sister, Marilyn.

Garden Club Plants Tulips

Four members of the Dixon Men's Garden club have planted 500 tulip bulbs at the northwest corner of Rts. 52 and 30, three miles north of Amboy.

The planters were Louis Schumm, project committee chairman, Walter Knack, program committee chairman, Ed Carry and Vern Higgins. All are charter members of the club.

Move Over!

WOOD RIVER, Ill., (AP)—Tommy Williams, 9, missing for 10 hours after leaving a Cub scout meeting yesterday, was found at 2 a.m. today by members of a search party of about 75. He was asleep in the doghouse of next-door neighbors.

DeKalb County Judge Will Be State Candidate

SYCAMORE — Lathan Castle, 51, Sandwich, DeKalb county judge, has announced that he will be a Republican candidate for nomination for Illinois attorney general in the 1952 primary.

Judge Castle has been county judge since 1942 and has been in public office in DeKalb county since 1928 except for two years. Also he has served as assistant attorney general.

He was elected state's attorney in 1928 and held the post for 12 years. His candidacy is endorsed by Edwin Carlson, Waterman, chairman of the DeKalb county Republican central committee, and Raymond Morris, Joliet, Republican state central committeeman for the 15th congressional district.

Castle is president of the Sandwich state bank and is past president of the DeKalb County Bar association and of the Illinois State's Attorneys' association.

U. S. Plane Remains Missing; Hungary, Romania Complain

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—(AP)—Hungary and Romania complained officially today that a United States army cargo plane—still missing after being fired on by the satellite border guards Monday—crossed over their territories illegally.

Notes were presented to the American missions in Budapest and Bucharest, even as U. S. planes prepared to search over Yugoslavia for the missing C-47 transport which disappeared Monday with four crewmen and diplomatic cargo aboard.

The two cominform countries maintain a tight control all along their borders with Yugoslavia.

Pilot Reports Shooting

The notes were presented after American inquiries were made concerning the whereabouts of the plane, whose pilot had radioed his base at Munich Monday afternoon that he had been fired upon by the border patrols of the two countries and had turned back westward.

The pilot's reports, as disclosed by the U. S embassy in Belgrade, did not mention any damage from shooting.

Weather Hinders

Bad weather hampered the search. Fifteen U. S. air force planes were poised at Treviso in Northern Italy, at the juncture of the Italian, Austrian and Yugoslav borders, ready for the word that would send them over an area of 7,000 miles, much of it craggy mountains and wooded hills.

Work of School Safety Patrol Boys Praised by City Council

Work of school safety patrolmen was praised by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety C. L. Ballard at a meeting of the city council last night and Mayor William Slothower directed City Attorney Gerald Jones to draw up a resolution commending the work of the patrol boys.

Ballard said he was relaying to the council the sentiments of Chief of Police Frank Tyne who had observed the work of the safety patrols of allu Dixon schools during the past week.

Aid Police

Tyne told Ballard that the work of the school patrols aids his department immeasurably and has helped to prevent a serious calamity.

All members of the council approved recognizing the school patrols.

In other business the council approved annexation of a plot of land contiguous to the city limits at the end of N. Dement avenue. The plot is owned by Martin and Clara Dieterle.

Okay Annexation

The petition for annexation had been approved by Judge Grover Gehant in county court two weeks ago.

The board of local improvements awarded a contract to Frank Hughes, Dixon, for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Clark street. Hughes' bid of $4,750 was low for the project. The contract was recommended by City Engineer C. K. Willett.

Ten From Lee County Leave For Induction

Ten men from Lee county left for Chicago yesterday for army induction, according to the Lee county draft board.

The men are: Joseph W. Washburn, Donald H. Brook, Earl D. Johnson, Frank W. Hoyle, David J. Moore, Gwelmon L. Johnson, Robert H. Hawks, Eugene R. Becker, Thomas K. Leggett and Howard Wellman, jr.

Bookie Fined $500 After He Gets License

CARLINVILLE, (AP)—A handbook operator who registered under the new federal taxing gamblers has been fined $500 on his plea of guilty to a state charge of bookmaking.

Circuit Judge Francis Bergen assessed the fine yesterday against Mike Enrico of Benld.

In his application for a federal bettor's stamp, Enrico listed his place of business as the Saratoga club in Benld.

State's Attorney E. R. Phelps raided the club and confiscated a ticker machine allegedly used for transmission of racing information to various points in Southern Illinois.

Enrico is one of four persons who have registered as gamblers in the Springfield internal revenue district embracing 76 Central and Southern Illinois counties.

TOWN OFFICIALS TO MEET

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — The township officials of Illinois will hold their 43rd annual convention in Springfield Sept.-Oct. 1, 1952.

The board of directors also decided yesterday to hold a spring convention of the organization in Rockford June 5-6.

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Ratification of a new contract by union chemical workers has averted a strike which threatened drastically to slow down the flow of blood plasma to the armed forces in Korea.

Truman Hits At GOP 'Lies And Smears'

Talk 'Political Effontry,' Says Candidate Taft

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman, in a speech reminiscent of his 1948 "give 'em hell" style, declared last night that the Democrats won't take lying down the "lies and smears" he said he anticipates from Republicans and "special interests" in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Truman told an audience of party members here he thinks more money will be spent "in trying to defeat the Democratic party next year than has ever before been spent in any election in the history of the country."

This brought from Republicans reiteration of "corruption" charges. Truman did not mention in his speech any of the charges of wrongdoing which have been alleged against his administration.

Should Get Prize

His declaration that "the truth and the facts are on our side" brought a retort from Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) that "President Truman should certainly get the prize for political effrontery" for his speech.

Guy A. Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican national committee, said Truman had "a flash of realism" when he said "a mistake in a presidential election can cause the country untold harm."

"The reminder isn't necessary for millions of Americans," Gabrielson said. "They are disgusted and alarmed at the high taxes, high prices, corruption, crises and war of his incompetent administration. They won't make the mistake again."

Hits at Taft

Without naming the senator, Truman singled out Taft with the assertion that "special interests" had poured money into Ohio last

County Road Work Halted By Weather

As cold weather set in, work on county road projects have been abandoned until next year, according to Fred Leake jr., county superintendent of highways.

Work now being done by the county highway department, Leake reports, includes necessary repairs to road machinery and the setting up of snow fences.

Snow fences are being placed along county roads in sections where drifts accumulate. The fences will aid in keeping roads clear for traffic throughout the snowy, winter months.

Machinery repairs are being done at the county highway department garage in Amboy.

Allied Air Might Periled By Red Jets

Air Force Chief Makes Report on Return From Front

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg said today the Allies' "complete air superiority over Korea is now being seriously challenged by the MIGS but so far the situation is in hand."

The air force chief of staff told a long and grim news conference that possible "serious potentials" exist. Among these he listed the fact that "overnight China has become one of the major air powers of the world.

Russia Aids

Vandenberg added that the Peiping regime obviously has attained that status "as the direct beneficiary of another power possessing the essential industrial and technical resources that Communist China itself lacks."

He did not mention Russia by name.

Vandenberg, just back from the Korean war front, also said:

"Under the ground rules established at the outset of the Korean war, it is impossible for us to gain air supremacy" because "for reasons that we all understand, we have followed a policy of not attacking the strongholds of enemy air power directly across the Yalu" river in Manchuria.

Third Hunter Shot at Green River Preserve

The third hunting accident in two days was reported today from the Green River Game preserve.

An unidentified hunter was wounded in the leg by a shotgun pellet Tuesday afternoon. The wound did not need treatment and the hunter went on to bag his two pheasants after being shot, according to game preserve officials.

Junk Truck Causes Accident; Driver In County Lockup

A minor accident of Alt. Rt. 30 three miles east of Dixon yesterday was caused because a Rockford junk truck was so loaded with scrap materials that the sides bulged.

The truck, driven by Daniel McNeely, 24, Rockford, sideswiped the mirror and scratched the side of a truck driven by Frank E. Muhleback, 1010 W. Sixth st., Dixon.

McNeely was arrested by Sheriff Charles Redebaugh on complaint of Muhleback and was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace Sterling W. Schrock. He was also warned that he would not be allowed to drive until enough junk was unloaded from the truck so that the sides would not bulge.

Unable to pay the fine, McNeely is now in the Lee county jail.

Price of Hot Dogs, Bologna to Rise Two Cents on Monday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The prices of hot dogs, bologna and some pork sausage will go up somewhere around two cents a pound, effective Monday, under new rules issued today by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

OPS said new rules governing prices of fresh and semi-dry sausage containing beef—hot dogs and bologna for example—were revised to pass on to processors higher material costs.

Compensates for Hike

An announcement said the increase will compensate processors for a hike in the permissible price for beef at wholesale, which it ordered in mid-September.

Pork sausage packed in sheep casings also is covered by the order, reflecting what OPS said are higher costs for the casings.

Meanwhile, OPS was at work on another order which will permit the price of beer for home consumption to advance about a cent a bottle. Officials are aiming for a target date of Dec. 1, but the order may be delayed somewhat beyond that date.

Costs Are Up

Increased labor and packaging costs were said by officials to be the reason for the forthcoming order, which will affect the nation's 350 breweries, 8,000 wholesalers and more than 250,000 beer retailers.

The actual price increase may be less than one cent. But coupled with the recent tax boost of three-tenths on a standard bottle or can, it will permit retailers to charge a full penny more.

Leathernecks Suffer 16,000 Casualties; Chinese Inflict Most

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties in Korea reached 100,176 today.

The defense department's weekly summary, reporting an increase of 950 since last week, sent the total over the 100,000 mark. By comparison, U. S. combat casualties in the first year of this country's participation in World War II were 59,000.

Of the 950 new battle casualties reported today, 150 were killed outright in action; 762 were wounded, and 38 are missing.

American families have been told of some 22,000 casualties among their men since Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway first offered to talk about an armistice on June 30.

Chinese Inflict Losses

About seven out of every 10 American battle losses have been suffered since the Chinese Reds poured across the Manchurian border into the then virtually-won Korean battlefield a little more than one year ago.

hTe 70,000 U.S. casualties reported since the Chinese entered the war include nearly 8,000 of the 12,500 Americans listed at one time or another as missing in action. This missing figure has been reduced to a current total of around 10,600. Among these are the some 5,500 Americans reported by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the war crimes section of the U.S. 8th army in Korea, to have been killed by their captors.

General Ridgway said in a report yesterday there was "considerable evidence" that approximately 5,000 U.S. soldiers captured by the Communists were victims of "death by atrocity." He said there was no "conclusive evidence" of the number of atrocity deaths, and that 254 victims had been identified and their families notified. Most of the 6,000 who, the general said, may have been atrocity vic-

Hope of U.S. Is in Rural Areas, Claim

MONTICELLO, Ill., (AP)—An Ohio educator said last night that "our hope of survival' lies in strengthening rural communities.

He said American civilization is headed for collapse because most gifted persons are drawn to large cities were "their families don't survive more than about four generations."

The speaker was Dr. Arthur Morgan, president of Community Service, Inc., and former president of Antioch college, O. He addressed representatives of 17 Illinois communities at the University of Illinois Community Workship at Allerton Park near Monticello.

"Unfortunately," Dr. Morgan said, "persons of most intelligence and ability tend to leave their communities for the cities. There they don't reproduce themselves and their families don't survive more than about four generations of urban life."

Sugar Bowl No Place for Money In These Days of Rising Prices

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If you had lived in 1860, you could have ordered beefsteak at New York's most fashionable restaurant, Delmonico's, for four cents. Pork chops also cost four cents. Roast beef or veal, five cents, a cup of coffee one cent.

The old menu, recently reproduced by the New York investment firm of Hugh W. Long and company in a brochure illustrating the purchasing power of the dollar over the last 100 years, lists at the bottom "Regular dinner 12 cents."

These quotations are used to dramatize a lesson on the cost of living included in a series of investment programs which thousands of women's clubs throughout the country have been offering their members of late.

Teach Women To Invest

The idea of the course, sponsored by the Mutual Fund Institute, a non-profit corporation, is to teach women how to invest their money wisely and well.

The lesson of the three-cent steak serves to point up the fact that you never can tell how much a dollar will be worth a few years hence.

The lesson the investment experts have to teach is that it doesn't do much good to bury your dollars in the back yard or hide them under the mattress in these days as dollars shrink.

Put Them to Work

But if you have extra money that isn't needed for the daily expenses of food, clothing and shelter, you can put them to work for you in the basic industries of the country. Then if inflation continues, your working dollar will inflate along with the cost of living.

Investment in stocks, a term which has frightened U. S. women for a good many years, is as simple at that. It means that you own a part of a working business which, if you have chosen well, will pay you earnings over the years. And if prices go up, the value of your invested dollar also will increase.

Choose Basic Industries

Wise investment counselors will tell you that you should not buy stocks or bonds if your only interest is in a quick, spectacular profit. But if you buy for investment, choosing basic industries in a diversified list, then you are pretty sure that as the country grows your holdings will increase.

The inflationary spiral has been going up for the last 100 years, and it probably will continue. Our American standard of living, the highest in the world, keeps getting higher. Prices keep going up. Taxes get bigger. And the old family pay-check continues to shrink.

Real Estate Okay

Some people prefer to buy real estate, or diamonds, which also can be counted on to increase in value as prices go up and dollar value shrinks.

Whatever you choose, the experts advise, buy something of real value if you would be safe in this age of sky-rocketing costs. Because those dollars in the sugar bowl may someday shrink clear out of sight.

Auto Industry Output Nearing Second Best Year in History

AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, (AP)—The auto industry has its second best production year in sight.

Production will be an up-and-down affair for the remainder of the year but with this week's volume output for 1951 will surpass the 6,258,000 unit volume achieved in 1949.

Already this year 6,200,000 cars and trucks have been built. With the exception of the 1949 total and the 8,016,000 record out put last year, that's more vehicles than were built in any previous full year in auto industry history.

How Much Higher?

How much higher the industry can push the production total in December is uncertain. Many sources believe another 400,000 cars and trucks may be built in the final month, although there will be numerous shutdowns for model switch-overs.

The indicated 6,600,000-plus output is considerably greater than most industry experts were willing to predict early this year. With the greater impact of the defense program on civilian operations few expected 1951 to develop into the industry's second best output year.

Expect No Ban

The car manufacturers do not expect the ban on new machine tools, effective Feb. 1, to affect production volume, although it will further delay some styling and engineering changes already deferred by the defense program.

Right now the auto industry is spending millions of dollars trying to learn how to substitute aluminum for copper. This probably is one of the most intensive efforts the industry has made in the last decade or more. The car makers have been definitely informed there is no hope of more copper for civilian motor vehicle production.

So a lot of laboratory and field testing is under way with radiators built of aluminum or steel with copper plating and with ignition harnesses of lesser copper content.

Nobody has gone so far as to suggest cars can be built without copper. It is a safe guess, however, that the auto makers aren't spending so many millions of dollars in the copper conservation effort without some expectation of materially reducing the amount used in car production.

Korean Prisoners May Get Packets From Red Cross

WASHINGTON —(AP)— If an agreement can be worked out with the Communists to send food and medicine to prisoners of war in Korea, the American Red Cross says it is ready with a program.

The Red Cross announced yesterday that 5,000 food packages assembled by volunteers in Washington are at a west coast port, ready for shipment to Japan. It said 4,000 other special packages have been made available for prisoners who may be ill or undernourished.

Arrangements relating to prisoners of war of both sides is on the agenda of the current armistice talks in Korea.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We Owe Thanks to Those Who Protect Our Basic Ideals

In these times many men find much to decry and deplore in American life. And any fair scanning of the national horizon must produce proof that the laments are largely justified.

Yet we may be profoundly thankful for one thing. The nation's elemental character is untarnished. Its devotions have not lost their fire. Human dignity and freedom, individual integrity and resourceful accomplishment are still revered.

Were it not so, would anyone rise to decry and deplore?

The year 1951 has unfolded more than one unhappy chapter in the American story. Moral laxity has shown itself all too common in quarters as varied as the government council room, the sports arena, the home.

Fundamentals of freedom have been put in jeopardy by people who say they are defending liberty.

In the crisis of limited war and threat of wider war, groups in our society have chosen not to submerge traditional jealousies and conflicts in a common cause, but to lift them up. Here and there the special interest has been glorified as the national interest—by men of narrow view.

Nevertheless, the great, wholesome, heartening fact is that none of this has been allowed to occur without stirring protest. A mantle of indifference has cloaked some of us—but never all. The nation's conscience has yielded neither its identity nor its vigor.

Every important digression from service to American ideals has been duly charted. Above all the confusions, the failures, and the twisted notions, our real goals have been held high.

On this Thanksgiving Day, our gratitude should go to those who keep our dream of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness a vivid promise. Americans have demonstrated well that some among them will always speak when there is a tampering with freedom, a lapse from moral grace, a slackness in resourceful effort, a too great focus on selfish ends.

We can be thankful that this core of America is still secure. It is our assurance that, come what may, tomorrow is a day we can look to with hope in our hearts.

Shopping in Russia

It would be a good thing if every American—in this area in which the free enterprise system is under constant attack from within and without—could pay a visit to a retail store in Russia or one of the other Communist countries. That would provide an excellent practical test of the differences between a free competitive economy, and a controlled, totalitarian economy.

In the Russian store, the visitor would find that all goods were rigidly rationed—the average citizen is allowed to buy just enough to live at a subsistence level. Prices, of course, are fixed by the government at whatever level the masters of the nation desire—and, save for a few such staples as bread and potatoes, the prices are always extremely high in terms of the earning power of the masses. High prices are a deliberate communist device by which earnings are immediately siphoned back into the coffers of the state.

There is no competition, in our understanding of that word. The government controls everything, and directly owns practically everything, all the way from farm and factory to the store. Even the most modest luxuries are unknown. And many of the necessities are constantly in short supply, so that even meager legal rations cannot be filled.

Contrast this with those show windows of America—our retail stores, small and large, chain and independent. The difference is literally incredible. Only free enterprise can produce abundance and high living standards.

Get Their 'Man'

You really have to admire the Communist anti-spy activities on the Korean front. In their dogged pursuit of enemy agents, they netted an 11-year-old South Korean boy. For 19 days he was held as a spy.

Actually, the lad was traipsing after a UN convoy when Chinese Red guards seized him at the Panmunjom bridge. He was merely curious, or perhaps in search of candy.

To explain away their ridiculous, humorless conduct, the Reds rehearsed the boy in a silly statement which seemed to convict him of serving with South Korean troops.

But with the guileless habit of a child, when he finally was released he told UN officers: "I just said what they told me to say."

On the basis of this showing, it ought to be time for a shake-up in Communist counter-espionage.

We are now paying the highest individual and business taxes in our history, save for the peak reached briefly during World War II. In spite of this, we are running a tremendous deficit and going farther and farther in the red. Can anyone doubt that all non-essential spending must be stopped cold—and that the essential spending be watched with the utmost care?

BREAK MOVIE CODE

"Clash by Night," they're whispering at RKO, is new evidence of relaxed movie censorship in face of TV competition.

The plot has Barbara Stanwyck committing adultry and then going back to her husband for a they-lived-happily-ever-after fade-out. It's the first time anyone can remember that the Movie Production Code, which demands punishment for celluloid adultry, has been broken.

Barbara is kidding about it: "My only punishment is that I have to go back to my husband." Bob Ryan is the heel, Paul Douglas the husband.

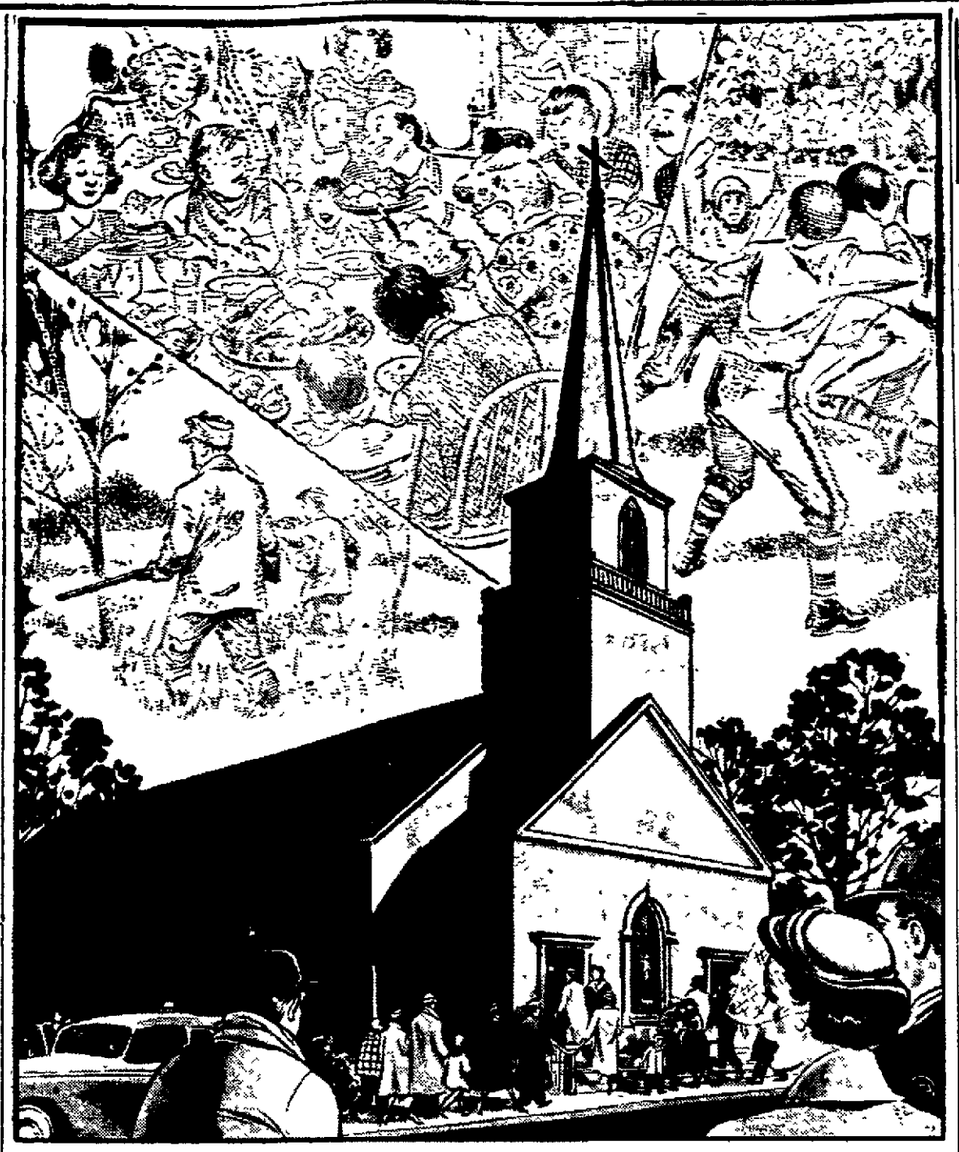
What's Right?

You start to make some broad statement that you realize may brand you as being prejudiced in the matter.

WRONG: Begin by saying, "I don't think I am any more prejudiced than the next person—but—"

RIGHT: Beware of making statements that make you feel uncomfortable enough that you have to start apologizing for them before you make them.

The hippopotamus is the largest living, non-ruminating even-toed mammal, existing primarily on aquatic plants growing in water but occasionally coming on shore to feed.



But, Most of All, a Day to Give Thanks—

Thanksgiving thoughts have a way of turning to turkey and the trimmings, family reunions, the big football game or maybe a hunting trip. But think deeply enough of Thanksgiving and your heart tells you that this is a day to thank Divine Providence for the abundance that is ours. Let the true spirit of this great American holiday pervade the day. And whether it be in church, in our own homes or in the great outdoors, let us not forget to Give Thanks to God.

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

Inferiority Complex Chief Danger for Acne Sufferers

A letter from a reader who signs herself "Joan" makes an excellent introduction to a discussion of adolescent pimples or acne. She says:

"Ever since I was eleven years old I have had an awful time with pimples. My friends told me that in time they would clear up. I'm now 14 years old and they are the same. I learned after it was too late not to squeeze them, and the pores on my face have enlarged, especially on my cheeks.

"I have tried many ointments, but none of them help me. I don't eat a lot of candy and sweets, and my hair and face are not oily. I don't know what is causing them or how to fight it. I wash my face two and sometimes three times a day. I'm beginning to feel self-conscious

"It would be greatly appreciated not only by me, but by hundreds of other teen-agers if you would discuss this problem."

Staying away from sweets and starches and eating fairly large quantities of fruits and vegetables usually helps. Exposure to sunlight, which of course, is much easier in the summer than winter months, also seems to make acne much better in the majority of cases. Permanent scarring of the skin is the exception.

The worst thing about acne is that it makes Joan and others like her terribly self-conscious. This leads in many cases to a sort of withdrawal from society. The youngster with acne tends to stay away from his friends and particularly from social events like dances and club parties, which are particularly desirable during youth.

FORGET ABOUT ACNE

Joan and the rest of you who have acne should make a conscious effort to forget about pimples on the skin except to follow whatever medical direction have been given.

Acne usually disappears after a while, and the youngster who forces himself or herself to go to parties and other social events may avoid an "inferiority complex" during the rest of his or her life.

Grown-ups should be aware of this difficulty and ought to keep from commenting on the state of the skin just as much as they can. When a well-meaning parent or friend remarks "how much better your skin looks this morning" the youngster is made even more conscious how his or her face must look the rest of the time

Local treatment can often do a great deal for pimples. Just exactly what should be put on must be decided by the doctor.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

More Than One Way to Play Hand

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There's usually more than one way to make a bridge hand, just as there's usually more than one way to kill a cat. In today's hand, sharp defense robbed declarer of the simple play for his contract, but he was clever enough to find a satisfactory substitute.

West opened the king of diamonds and realized the situation when his partner dropped the queen. West thoughtfully shifted to a trump, the best defense. East naturally took the ace of trumps and led a second round of trumps, thus killing dummy's ruffing power.

The contract would have been easy against any other defense. South was sure of five trumps in his own hand and four top cards in the dummy If he could ruff a diamond with dummy's ten, the tenth trick would surely develop. If East over-ruffed, the South hand would win six trump tricks; if East failed to over-ruff, dummy's trump would win a trick.

Declarer won the second round of trumps with dummy's ten, cashed the top spade, and ruffed a spade Next he drew the last trump with the king of hearts and entered dummy with a club to lead another low spade. East played the queen of spades, and South calmly discarded a diamond.

Now dummy's nine of spades was high as declarer's much-needed tenth trick What's more, East had to lead a club (he had nothing but clubs left) to dummy's ace, thus enabling dummy to gain the lead

Questions and Answers

Q—Is tattooing an ancient art?

A—Yes. An exhibit at the Royal College in London shows that it dates at least from about 1300 B.C.

Q—What procedure is necessary for a new state to be admitted to the Union?

A—An act of Congress is necessary, passed by both Houses, and signed by the President of the United States

Q—How many moons are there in the Solar System?

A—Counting our own Moon, there are 30.

Q—Is a football made of pigskin?

A—The usual football is a rubber bladder covered with cowhide and is not a "pigskin."

Q—What is the miracle performed by Christ that is mentioned in all the four Gospels?

A—It is the miracle of the feeding of the multitude with five loaves and two fishes.

So They Say

Reactionaries (as Iran), I fear, are their own worst enemies For there comes a point at which the foreign goose will not lay any more golden eggs, while their own goose will not lay any eggs at all. To put it bluntly, the goose will be cooked.

—Sir Gladwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to UN.

I don't think Eisenhower can be drafted and I don't think he can get the nomination by being coy. I think Eisenhower should relinquish his command and come home and declare himself and tell where he stands.

—Gov. Val Peterson, of Nebraska.

You, South, hold: Spades Q-10-8-7-4, Hearts None, Diamonds 9-7-6, Clubs Q-10-8-7-4. What do you lead?

A—Lead the seven of clubs. The only choice is, of course, between spades and clubs. You must hope that your partner holds three or four good cards in the suit that you open. If your partner had that sort of holding in spades in addition to his hearts, he would have doubled for a takeout instead of bidding the hearts. However, there is a fair chance that he has club strength with his hearts; he would be unable to double because of spade shortness.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 10-8-7-4, Hearts A-6-3, Diamonds 6-2, Clubs J-9-8-5. What do you lead?

WESTBROOK PEGLER

British House Members Really Represent Outside Interests Instead of the People

(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LONDON—A member of the British House of Commons gets a salary of one thousand pounds a year, approximately $2,500 at the present rate of exchange, plus as many free rides as he needs on the nationalized railroads to and from London. But he has neither an office nor a secretary, no telephone, nor even a desk and he pays for his own postage and telegrams. The Congressional Record of the British Parliament is a document known as Hansard, after a man, who, long ago, obtained the concession of reporting the debates and recording bills introduced for consideration, but the press has absolutely no standing or privilege and may be heaved out, and the Hansard reporters too, when a secret session is ordered. To signalize the beginning of secrecy the prime minister calls "I spy strangers" and the premises are then cleared of non-members and the record is suspended until the secrecy is terminated.

Westbrook Pegler

This superiority of Commons this independence of the press is naively regarded as a very important thing, signifying that the House of Commons, representing the people of Great Britain, is not to be intimidated by publishers no any other force, including the king. But that is a strictly technical and meaningless assertion of a flabby integrity because actually the members do not represent "the people" of their constituencies at all, but the respective political parties or other patrons such as labor unions, banks, insurance companies or breweries.

The unions are allowed to subsidize M. P.'s by continuing the pay of those members who hold union office, or even by outright grants of wages for services to be rendered in the form of pro-union votes. Among a number of enlightened Englishmen with whom I have earnestly discussed this phenomenon I not only found no objection but a puzzled and rather sensitive feeling that any outside objection to this obvious venality was just another twist of the lion's tail. I tried over and over to spell out with match sticks the plain fact that a member of Parliament or of our lower House is supposed to represent all the people of his district, or constituency, as they call it here, but the best I got was an impatient admission that this was all right in abstract theory but ——.

However, as we argued, they put me to wondering whether the same wasn't true in our legislatures, including the Big Casino on Capitol Hill and I am forced to admit that it undoubtedly is, with the technical, hypocritical difference that we make a pretense that that which isn't so is For example, we have a lot of professional unioneers sitting in Congress who, for all that any law says to the contrary, may still be drawing their union pay and perquisites and in one notorious case, is. It is our pretense, however, that these unioneers, when they come to Congress, suddenly become impartial and objective statesmen representing all the people and interests of their respective districts which is a lie as all of us know.

The notorious case that I refer to is that of Congressman Irving of Independence, Mo., Harry Truman's home district, who is the dictator of a big local of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers union, one of the foulest rackets in the whole vast corruption of the American union movement.

There have been riots and hell generally in his local and he is no worse than at least a dozen other unioneers in congress, but just more flagrant. So the only difference between the British position and ours is that they boldly endorse the outrageous principle that it is all right for special interests to subsidize or, in a franker word, bribe, M. P.'s to vote their way, whereas we put up with the same thing and pretend it isn't so

With all our faults, the American system is so much better than the British that the mother of Parliaments loses the dignified men and stately lineaments of ancient superstitution and becomes an ugly old bag. For one thing, we have a written Constitution which withholds from the federal government certain powers reserved to the states and others to the people. Having no written constitution but a mere accumulation of laws, Parliament can and sometimes does exercise the very tyranny which it is supposed to repress We slipped up badly in the sixteenth amendment in failing to put a limit on the percentage of our income which Congress could take away from us in its revenue acts.

The meaning of ommission is that right now Congress has the right to tax away every dollar of individual or corporate income in the whole country and thereby reduce us to slavery because in that case nobody could earn a living and we would all have to go to concentration camps for lodging, food and social security. To be sure, this was done by the elaborate process provided for constitutional amendment and we should have caught the trick, but the fact remains that nobody did catch it—and there it is.

Under Roosevelt, our Congress passed several laws, such as the Wagner act, wages and hours and the communications act which withdraw from the jurisdiction of the regular courts important phases of jurisprudence and hand over people and their rights to prejudiced bureaucrats for arbitrary judgment subject to no appeal to any court except rarely when the lazy, frivolous ignoramuses and lounge lizards of the Supreme court decide to give a listen All this is very bad and ought to be undone, by Congress itself, now that old Moosejaw has retired to the sideshow racket at the Hyde Park honkatonk under the shrewd showmanship of Elliott and Laboca Grande, and the hex is off.

But the British Parliament is even worse. Under the reign of the Socialists, calling themselves the Labor party, Parliament became a tyrant, nor was this the start of that because Parliament had shown our Congress the way long ago in the shape of laws which permitted bureaucrats to oppress the people and denied them access to the courts. Under Socialism, the occasions for the exercise of arbitrary power by inspectors and licensing authorities have multiplied. The flaw in the parliamentary system always was there but the guilt has been the greater in a legislative body whose majority frankly regarded itself as the servant of the unions, and to hell with the rest and to hell with the liberties of one and all for which Englishmen had fought, bled and died Parliament is a legislative body with a built-in lobby.

RUTH MILLETT

Life Sour for Those Making Mountains of Molehills

She could be a happy woman. She has no great worries and no great problems.

Yet every day she makes herself miserable by creating minor crises out of the small problems and little annoyances of everyday living.

One poor cut of meat and she is ready to give the butcher a piece of her mind. One newspaper story about juvenile delinquency and she is sure the world is going to the dogs. If she hears about a tragedy she dwells on it and passes the bad news on at every opportunity.

If she doesn't do anything easily if she can find a way to fuss and stew about it. The simple solution make a problem out of a situation is always by-passed in order to that could be easily met and forgotten.

And the sad thing is, she doesn't just make herself miserable and unhappy.

She passes her gloom along until it affects her family and her friends.

SHE'S LOSING A LOT OUT OF LIFE

She is wasting the good years of her life, by taking life hard instead of taking it easy. And that, perhaps, is the worst mistake any woman can make

For life brings real problems and real tragedies to everyone. Days and moths and years that aren't shadowed by such real confusion and sorrow should be enjoyed to the utmost.

They can be, unless a person is determined to make mountains out of molehills, to look for hurts and disappointments and causes for resentment and anger.

If today was a bad day, what made it bad? Some real problem—or just a series of little annoyances that could have been shrugged off or dealt with promptly and forgotten?

It's wise to ask yourself that question at the end of a bad day.

The Battle of the Herrings is the name given to action in 1429 between the French and English when the latter were bearing Lenten provisions—mostly herrings—to the besieging troops at Orleans during the Hundred Years' War.

Truman Remains Relatively Quiet to Taft's Blasts But Other Democrats Snipe Away

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Taft, trying to persuade the Republicans to make him their presidential candidate, has been going around the country banging away at the Truman administration's policies at home and abroad.

He's had a lot to say about President Truman's foreign policy. And, watching this, some people have wondered how long Truman would let him go without pitching in with a few words on Taft's own ideas on foreign policy.

Not All Silent

True, the Democrats haven't been exactly silent on the subject of Taft, who last week published a book attempting to explain his views. As soon as the book appeared Democratic Senator McMahon of Connecticut ripped into Taft and his book.

The things which McMahon had to say—quotes from Taft's record in the senate and the stands he took on the big issues—were too plentiful and too well-organized to have been thrown together overnight. A lot of research and work went into them.

It was thought at the time that with this McMahon broadside the Democrats had decided to open up on the Ohio Republican. Maybe so. But the president himself still has said very little although, since Truman has shown a pretty short temper with Taft in the past, no one suspects him of bashfulness.

Billed as "Major"

So when Truman flew from his Key West vacation to address the Woman's National Democratic Club last night in Washington it was thought that maybe now the president would fire a shot. His speech was billed beforehand as a major political speech.

It wasn't. It was pretty mild. Truman never once mentioned Taft by name. But you could almost see the president getting restless over his silence on the senator, for he left no doubt in his speech he was shooting at Taft, even though not naming him.

Upholding his own foreign policy, the president said "Since I have been president . . . I have consulted regularly with leaders of both parties, Democrats and Republicans alike."

Seen as Reply

This could have been interpreted as Truman's reply to Taft's charge that the president went over the head of congress in sending troops to Korea. But Taft was certainly never one of those who was "regularly" consulted by Truman on foreign affairs. So far as I know Truman never consulted him at all Truman continued:

". . . I want to keep our foreign policy out of domestic politics. I am happy to say that there are many patriotic Republicans who have the same view of this question . . . I might add that these are the Republicans—in congress and out—who know most about foreign affairs.

Play With Dynamite

"But I am sorry to say that there is another group of Republicans—a group who want to put foreign policy into domestic politics. They want to play with dynamite and they may have their way. I don't know how the Republican convention will decide the matter next July."

Then the president said performance in foreign policy is the best campaign issue the Democrats have.

The closest Truman came to teeing off on Taft personally was near the end of his speech when he said the Republicans and their supporters would spend more money to win this next campaign than was ever spent in any election.

Well Organized Attack

"The attack," he said, "will be well-organized—and well financed. We've had a sample in the congressional elections of last year. We saw how the special interests poured money into Ohio last year to elect a Republican senator." That was Taft.

Taft promptly replied: "It is the Truman party which is the beneficiary of the money of special interests and of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money used for political propaganda."

The University of Arizona basketball team scored 2,085 points last season to set a new school record.

'She Wouldn't Forget Neal;' Claims Tone

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—What caused the ruin of his seven-week marriage to Barbara Payton, says Franchot Tone, was the reentry into her life of Tom Neal, her beautiful-bodied ex-suitor.

"She wouldn't forget him," Tone told newsmen yesterday.

They had several quarrels about Neal, he said. When Barbara informed him she planned to co-star in a movie with the handsome young actor, he decided he was through, Tone said.

He filed suit for divorce yesterday, charging "extreme mental cruelty."

Neal beat Tone so severly last September that he spent many days in a hospital. Shortly after he recovered, Tone married Miss Payton.

Miss Payton was on the verge of filing a suit herself, but dropped the idea when Tone acted first.

Jury Exonerates Wauconda Man of Tavern Slaying

CHICAGO, (AP)—A criminal court jury deliberated less than two hours yesterday before acquitting Harold (Johnny) Cave, 25, of a charge of murdering a suburban tavern owner.

Cave, who lives at Belleville, was charged with killing Michael Buny, 42, during a $50 holdup at Buny's Casablanca tavern in suburban Palatine on May 15, 1949.

The verdict by the jury of seven women and five men freed Cave after 14 months in custody.

Wife Sobs

When the verdict was read, Cave broke down and embraced his wife, Audrey, 24, who sobbed, "Thank God."

The jury foreman, Charles Houska of Chicago, said the jurors had been unanimous from the start in favoring Cave's acquittal. They had been asked by the state to inflict the death penalty.

The state's case had centered on a statement which Cave gave police shortly after his arrest but which he later repudiated, claiming it was obtained by coercion.

Admit Statement

After five days of argument with the jury barred from the courtroom, Judge Covelli ordered the statement admitted as evidence, along with a stenographic record of Cave's re-enactment of the shooting.

Trials of two other men arrested with Cave are pending. Richard Tudor, 22, of Wauconda, was to go on trial next Monday, charged with murder. The trial of Paul Svec, 37, also of Wauconda, charged with being an accessory to murder, is pending.

In tropical and sub-tropical forests, trees show both growth and death 12 months a year.

Dirksen Outlines 'Design for Peace'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (AP) — Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) has advocated congressional repudiation of the Yalta agreement as part of a three-point "Design for Peace."

Dirksen outlined his plan at a dinner meeting yesterday of the Sangamon county bar association. He called for:

1. Removal of government leaders "involved in the failures, miscalculations and blunders of the past."

2. Disavowal of the Yalta agreeement by congressional resolution.

3. Aid on a priority basis to only those nations where genuine freedom is enjoyed.

Farmers Pressed For State School A Century Ago

GRANVILLE, Ill., (AP) —If a group of pioneer farmers had been successful the state of Illinois would have had an agricultural and mechanical college in 1851 or 1852, years before the chartering of the University of Illinois in 1867.

A century ago residents of LaSalle, Putnam and other counties met in Granville in Putnam county with the idea of establishing a state supported university.

At the old Buel Institute Professor Jonathan B. Turner advocated a school to teach mechanics, farming and allied subjects to those unable to enter colleges of liberal arts, medicine, the ministry and law. Turner had been one of the prime movers in the Buel Institute formed to advance interests of farmers in 1846 and also was greatly interested in spreading higher education.

The Granville convention named a committee to take up the matter with the legislature but nothing came of it.

Members of the committee, in addition to Turner, were Marcus Morton of Morgan county; Elijah Iles of Sangamon county; W. J. Phelps of Peoria; Dr. Ames of Winnebago county; John Davis of Decatur; John E. Woods of Quincy; John Hise of LaSalle county and Aaron Shaw of Lawrence county.

Attempt to Halt Money Extortion Of U. S. Chinese

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Attempts to stop a flow of extorted money through Hong Kong to Communist China have been started by two U.S. treasury agents in this city's big Chinatown.

The investigations followed disclosures that Chinese in the United States have been induced to send sums of money to Red China under threat of death to their relatives in that country.

Korean War Wives Ready For U.S. Trip

TOKYO, (AP)—Eleven shy and excited Asiatic war wives left tonight for strange new homes in the United States with the American soldiers they married in war-battered Korea.

Ten are Korean nationals. The other is Chinese, born in Peiping but a resident of Seoul since 1946.

Korean-American babies accompanied three.

The 11 families left on a military air transport plane for a 36-hour flight via Honolulu to San Francisco.

The wives and their husbands had spent 12 awesome hours in this bustling city. They came from Korea by boat and train.

In Korea the wives left war, hardship and bitter memories. Some had been caught behind Communist lines in the war. One was jailed for a time as a spy.

The parents of one were killed in the fighting. The parents of another and the father of still another are missing.

Today the wives were shyly hopeful of the future. They were neatly dressed in new tailored suits and blouses.

Wha Ok Brychel, wife of Sgt. Adam C. Brychel, Chicago, voiced their common view:

"I want very much to see the big stores, the movie theaters, all the cars and the big hotels my husband has told me about.

"But most of all, I am very anxious to meet my husband's family and I am praying that they will like me."

Price on Turkey Dinner Up 34c

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A turkey dinner for four Washingtonians will cost about $6.16, or 34 cents more than it cost last Thanksgiving day, the government says.

The bureau of labor statistics, announcing the estimate yesterday, said there will be local variations but that generally the higher cost will hold true throughout the country.

Its figure was based on the probable consumption of five pounds of turkey plus the customary side dishes.

Last year, the bureau said, the same dinner here would cost $5.82; two years ago, $5 72.

Transit System Gets Into Black

SEATTLE —(AP)—Seattle's $8 million municipally-owned transit system is about to go out of debt for the first time in its stormy 32-year history. The payoff of the last half-million dollars worth of outstanding bonds has been set for Jan. 1, 1952, just two and one-half years ahead of schedule.

The city took over the system in 1919 for $15 million.

Predict Warm Weather for Thanksgiving

(By the Associated Press)

The nation's weather for Thanksgiving Day, it appeared today, may bring expressions of thankfulness from most of the eastern half of the country. Warmer weather is forecast.

But it looks like a cold and snowy holiday for many western areas Cold air from Canada spread southward over Montana and North Dakota today. Temperatures were far below freezing. Light snow fell in the Plains states. Temperatures also were below seasonal levels in the Far West.

Brisk southerly winds promised a break in the cold snap from Texas northeastward to the Middle and Upper Mississippi valley to the upper Great Lakes region. Some warming also was forecast by tomorrow for the eastern and southern states But weather forecasters said the mildest weather would extend west of the Appalachians to the Mississippi valley.

It was below freezing again today in southern states, except in Florida. Readings also were sub freezing in eastern states with a low of 13 at Burington, Vt. and 17 at Caribou, Me. It was 21 in Augusta, Ga, 20 in Pittsburgh, 27 in New York, 31 in New Orleans and 29 in Atlanta.

Snow flurries were reported in coastal sections of New England. Rain fell in southern Texas but fair weather was reported in other parts of the country

Dixon Woman Elected Lee County Home Bureau Head

Mrs. Archie Brown From Evening Unit Named to Office

Mrs. Archie W. Brown, 901 Fourth st., Dixon, who has been active in Lee County Home Bureau for 15 years, is the new chairman for this county. Other officers installed at Tuesday's 22nd annual all county meeting include: Mrs. Alvin Kehm of the Wyoming unit, vice chairman; Mrs. Byron Blum of the Ma-Di-Na unit, secretary; Mrs. Walter Weber of the Amboy Afternoon unit, treasurer; Mrs. Yale Bates of the Steward unit, program chairman; Mrs. Gus Bauer, Sublette unit, ways and means chairman; Mrs. John Warner, Bradford unit, music and recreation chairman; Mrs. Marcus Gonnerman of the Bradford unit, 4-H chairman, and Mrs. Lester Betz, Viola unit, health and safety chairman. Mrs. Kehm and Mrs. Weber were re-elected to their offices.

A member and past president of the Dixon Evening unit, Mrs. Brown has been a member of the Home Bureau for 18 years. Before coming to Lee county she belonged to Whiteside County Home Bureau and began her Home Bureau work in Bureau county.

Thanks Ma-Di-Na Unit

Congratulations go to the Ma-Di-Na unit who were responsible for the outstanding decorations on the luncheon tables. Orange place mats under each plate, designed in the shape of a house, stressed the friendly atmosphere of the Home Bureau organization and arrangements of fall hues and flowers centered the tables at the Methodist church basement. This unit is a younger member of the county's Home Bureau, having been organized April 9, 1951.

Over 300 members and guests attended the all day meeting held at the Methodist church, Dixon, and presided over by Mrs. Glenn Pfoutz, chairman. Mrs. George Pitzer began the afternoon session with a piano prelude. Group singing was led by Mrs. Blaine Allen and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Sadie Kerchner.

Guests were recognized having come from Ogle, Whiteside and Lee counties and from the state of Michigan.

Hold Memorial Service

Mrs. Alvin Kehm presented the impressive memorial service with the assistance of Mrs. Lester Keller, Pawpaw, pianist; Mrs. Dale Davidson, Pawpaw, pianist, and Mrs. Glenn Pfoutz, Ashton.

Mrs. Charles LeSage, Dixon, of the Lee County Cancer society, was recognized by Mrs. Pfoutz, who then introduced Miss Fannie Brooks of the Illinois Division, American Cancer society, the afternoon's speaker.

No Longer Feared

"No longer a word to be feared, cancer is neither contagious nor infectious" were among the opening words of Miss Brooks who chose as her topic "Cancer Control in Illinois". In her wonderful and gracious manner for which she is known the charming Miss Brooks held her audience with rapt attention throughout her timely and informative talk.

Cancer, which presents world-wide problem, can affect any age and it is with this in mand that the Home Bureau speaker urged the spreading of truthful and helpful facts about the disease. Lee County is fortunate in having an active cancer committee who will see to it that adequate literature on the control of cancer will reach everyone interested.

"Cancer, which is 3,000 years old, having been known by many other names, is not a foreign growth in the body but is a development of the cell of which it is a part" stated Miss Brooks.

Direct Cause Unknown

The direct cause of cancer is unknown but among the contributing causes are' irritation, chemicals, long exposure to heat, and friction. Approved methods to handle cancer include X-Ray, radium and surgery.

In her closing remarks the speaker gave the seven danger signals of cancer.

All County Chorus Sings

One of the highlights of the second part of the day's program was the numbers, appropriate to this season of the year, sung by the al-county Home Bureau chorus. The chorus is directed by Mrs. Blaine Allen and accompanied by Mrs. Sadie Kerchner.

Outstanding in the recognition service conducted by Mrs. William Meyer, Dixon, was the awarding of a Home Bureau Federation pin to Mrs. Anna Erbes, Ohio, Hamilton Home Bureau unit, for 14 years perfect attendance. Roses were presented three, four, five, six, seven and eight year perfect attendants.

Blue Ribbon units annunced were: Amboy Afternoon, Bradford, China, South Dixon, Sublette, Viola, Willow Creek, Palmyra, Reynolds, Dixon Afternoon, Hamilton, Harmon, Marion, May East-Grove, Nelson and Lee Center. To be a Blue Ribbon unit, all major and minor lessons are to have been given and there is to have been representation at all training schools, also a 100 per cent paid membership.

Trophy to Amboy Afternoon

The Amboy Afternoon unit was this year's trophy winner. Being a Blue Ribbon unit and having a net gain in membership entitles a unit to be awarded the trophy.

New Officers Begin

Working hand in hand with the new county officers will be the officers of each unit who have recently been elected. Aid was given to the nearly 100 new unit officers and members of the advisory council who attended the Officers Training School held in Amboy recently. Miss Gertrude Kaiser of the University of Illinois was in charge of the school.

OES Parlor Club Elects Officers

When OES Parlor club members met Monday at the Masonic Temple for a 1:30 o'clock dessert bridge, Mrs. Gertrude Carpenter and Mrs. J. D. Van Bibber were hostesses. Mrs. Harley Swartz was winner of first prize at bridge and Mrs. Dave Boos won second.

Mrs. Harley Swartz was elected president of the club, during the business meeting. Miss Esther Young is vice president and Mrs. Clark Rickard, secretary-treasurer.

LEE CENTER HOME BUREAU

The Lee Center unit of Home Bureau will meet with Mrs. Floyd White at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 23.

Dixon Woman's Club to Hear Lucile Hart Tell of Europe

"What I Saw in Europe" will be the topic of Miss Lucile Hart, Ashton, when she addresses the Dixon Woman's club, Saturday, Nov. 24. Miss Hart visited eight European countries during the summer of 1950, and traveled in a group of 21, under the direction of Arnold Sklare, a university teacher who received his doctorate at the Sorbonne in Paris. This tour took her through England, Belgium, Holland, three western zones of Germany, Austria, Italy, France, and Switzerland.

On her return voyage aboard the Queen Mary, Miss Hart attended and audited the seminar conducted by Dr. Sherwood Eddy. With her talk she will have pictures.

Miss Hart reecived her BA at Knox college, Galesburg, magna cum laude. She earned her BM and MM at Chicago Bush conservatory and did post graduate work at the American conservatory, Chicago, and Musical college, Northwestern university. She is past president of the Ashton Woman's club, past president for Lee county and is now radio chairman for the Ashton Woman's club. Saturday's speaker is director of orchestra and band at King's school and also has private pupils in Ashton. She was for two years editor-in-chief of a music magazine "The Wheel of Delta Omicron," and had arranged to study near Paris in 1939, but because of the outbreak of war, was unable to go to Europe until the summer of 1950.

Present Miss Hart

Miss Hart is presented to the Woman's club by the International Relations and Legislation department of which Mrs. Charles F. Johnston is chairman. Others in the department are, Mrs. Forest J. Trautwein, and Bercille Burkard.

The hostess committee for Saturday is: Mrs. George Papadakis, chairman; Miss Marian Ahrens, Mrs. Roy Barron, Mrs. Robert Bollman, Mrs. Verna Eyerhoff, Mrs. George Christianson, Mrs. W. H. Coppins, Mrs. F. G. Eno, Mrs. Leon Garrison, Mrs. Henry W. Hey, Mrs. Lyle Jeffers, Mrs. Carl Kling, Mrs. Charles Lesage, Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, Mrs. Harry Miller, Miss Anne O'Malley, Mrs. Frank Philpott, Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. W. W. Roat, Mrs. Herbert Schumacher, Mrs. George Silhan, Miss Florence Stoner, Mrs. H. LeVern Tennant, Mrs. Ellis Wainscott, Miss Harriet Wiltberger, Mrs. L. G. Yenerich, Mrs. Carl Woessner, Mrs. Ernest Youngmark and Mrs. William J. Wolf.

Holiday Dinner Held at First Baptist Church

After the close of the morning worship service at the First Baptist church, Sunday, members, their families and friends, gathered in the dining hall of the church for their second annual, congregational Thanksgiving dinner. The room was filled to capacity for the share-a-dish dinner, which was supplemented with turkey and noodles and coffee prepared by the Social Committee, of which Mrs. Ray Johnson is chairman.

At the close of the meal the Rev. Arthur A. Vinz spoke briefly and guests were introduced. A splendid time of fellowship followed, during which there was community singing as well as impromptu vocal solos, duets, and quartets by the choir members. Those responding to requests were Mrs. Robert Welty, Miss Lucille Miller, Mrs. Arthur A. Vinz, Archie Rawls, C. W. Rice, Harold Simkins and William Bond. Mrs. J. H. Hughes was accompanist.

Members of the White Temple community club voted to allow $25 for the purchase of books for the school at their recent meeting. A Halloween party was held at this meeting, called to order by Ray Toot, president.

It was decided to not have the next meeting at the regular date but to have it Dec. 20 with the school pupils furnishing a Christmas program. It was reported the Community Club will furnish Christmas treats for the children.

The Charles Dieterles and Gilbert Jaquets, the recreation committee, were in charge of games. Mrs. Mead Kelsey read a poem composed by Mrs. Harry Stoudt regarding activities at the club's last meeting.

Refreshments were served by the Kelsey and Stoudts.

Kidnap Victims Tell of Horror Moments With 'Badman' Cook

EL CENTRO, CALIF. —(AP)— Surviving victims of desperado William E. Cook's terrorism, which included at least nine kidnapings and six slayings in six weeks, related their experiences yesterday in his trial for his sanity and for his life.

Forrest Damron, an El Centro surveyor, and Homer Waldrip, a deputy sheriff at Blythe, told a jury trying Cook for the killing of Seattle Salesman Robert H. Dewey, that the Joplin, Mo., bad man exercised shrewdness and cunning in holding them as his prisoners.

Tells of Slayings

Waldrip testified he was kidnaped by Cook last Jan. 6 when he went to investigate the killer's movements. He said Cook disarmed him, forced him to drive westward from Blythe, and that Cook related how he had killed the five members of the Carl Mosser family of Atwood, Ill.

"He said Mosser had given him a lift, that he shot him first, then Mrs. Mosser," Waldrip testified. "He said one of the bullets also struck one of the children and that 'there was so much screaming I had to kill the kids too.'

Asks for Break

"He said he was sorry but that he'd have to kill me, too. I asked him if he couldn't give me some kind of a break. He asked me if there was anything in my car he could use to tie me up.

"There was a blanket, and we tore up some strips and he bound my hands behind me and forced me to lie on my stomach. He took contents of my wallet and told me to stay there 30 or 40 minutes. I walked back toward Blythe after he drove away."

Damron, who was kidnaped the next day with James Burke as the two left El Centro for a hunting trip to San Felipe, Mexico, told of eight horror-packed days during which, he said, Cook sat in the back of Burke's commandeered car and gave exhaustive instructions as to their every movement.

Slept in Front Seat

At night Burke and Damron rolled themselves in blankets and slept crowded in the front seat, the surveyor said, with Cook frequently admonishing them they would be killed if they made any move without forewarning him.

Tijuana, Mexico, police arrested Cook, still with Damron and Burke, on Jan. 15. Cook killed Dewey Jan. 6, shortly after he had abandoned the Riverside county car he took from Deputy Sheriff Waldrip.

If the jury finds Cook sane he may forfeit his life in the San Quentin prison lethal gas chamber. If the jury disagrees or finds him insane, the federal government can return him to Alcatraz prison to resume serving the 300 years imposed by an Oklahoma court for the kidnapings and killings of the Mosser family.

Hopes Brighter For Armistice By Christmas

tees or to the final armistice agreement. And U.N. delegates did not ask. They are expected to clarify this Thursday.

Agree in Principle

In submitting the Communist counterproposal, Lee said:

"We agree in principle to your proposal. However, we consider the form not proper or suitable for final agreement. Also, we hold different views with respect to certain details.

IOOF Holds Third Degree Ceremony

Dixon lodge IOOF, No. 39, met Thursday, Nov. 20, and conferred the third degree on Walter Heckman. The degree work was followed by a chili supper.

At the next meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 27, seven candidates will receive initatory degrees. Refreshments will follow.

Truman Hits At GOP 'Lies And Smears'

year to reelect the Republicans.

Taft, an avowed candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said in a statement in Cincinnati that "it is the Truman party which is the beneficiary of the money of special interests and of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money used for political propaganda."

"The head of an administration which has condoned Communism, immorality and corruption, and does not even bother to deny the proven charges, talks of the great moral position of his administration in the world," Taft continued.

Claims Bipartisanship

"He talks of a bipartisan foreign policy, although he was the man who plunged the country into the Korean war without consulting either the Republicans or congress."

Taft said the CIO and AFL had undertaken to raise $30,000,000 from union members "to purge all Republicans frorm congress."

Truman, who planned to return today to Key West, Fla., to resume his interrupted vacation, outlined for his party at a banquet of the National Women's Democratic clubs last night the kind of a campaign he said it must make next year.

He pictured it as a slugging battle against well-heeled Republicans who could be expected to put on a "dirty smear campaign."

Expects Fight

The president forecast a Republican attempt to buy the presidency with excessive campaign spending, asserted that "misrepresentation can be expected to reach new heights" and said that if the GOP chooses to make foreign policy an issue it will be "overwhelmingly repudiated by the people."

"I do not expect my party to run away from a fight," he said, adding: "It never did and it never will."

UN Palestine Group Gives Up Peace Attempt

PARIS, (AP) — The United Nations Palestine conciliation commission announced today its failure to settle Arab-Israeli differences.

The commission said it had called off the fruitless talks begun here Aug. 10 because neither party showed willingness to make concessions.

Draft Report

The group—made up of representatives of the United States, France and Turkey—now is drafting a report of its failure to the general assembly. It then will be up to the assembly to decide whether the commission should be liquidated or continued in existence.

The three-man commission notified both Israel and the Arab governments, which have been consulting with it, that wide differences between the two sides made it useless to continue negotiation efforts at this time.

Arabs Stubborn

The commission, originally created by the general assembly in 1948, has been unable to get the two parties to sit down together because of Arab refusal to deal directly with the Israeli representatives.

Acting as a go-between, the commission had offered its own proposals to break the deadlock and had frequently met with Israeli and Arab representatives separately.

The principal stumbling block continued to be the question of repatriating thousands of Arab refugees who fled from Palestine durin gthe 1948 fighting.

Boston Publisher Denies Ban On Review of Sen. Taft's Book

BOSTON, (AP) — The Boston Herald today carried a statement by Robert B. Choate, its publisher, that he never attempted to suppress the opinions of his editor who designed Sunday with a charge the paper refused to print his article on Sen. Taft's book.

John H. Crider, Pulitzer prize-winning editorial writer, conceded he favored Eisenhower over Taft but said he had written what he thought was "a fair review of Taft's book with a comment or two of my own thoughts about the man."

Carries Article

Today's Herald also carried the disputed article by Crider and directly beneath it a review of Taft's book written for last Sunday's New York Times by Lindsay Rogers, professor of public law at Columbia university.

Sen. Taft's book is titled "Foreign Policy for Americans."

In the statement explaining his position, Choate said:

"I have never attempted to suppress Mr. Crider's opinions, either as expressed in the newspaper or on television, where, of course, he was speaking on his own.

Explains Actions

"On Monday Mr. Crider said that I suppressed a book review he wrote about Senator Taft's 'Foreign Policy for Americans.' The fact is that Mr. Crider expressed himself on the book in the lead editorial in the Herald on Wednesday. When I discovered that he intended to write, under his own name on the editorial page, an attack on Senator Taft under the guise of a book review, I called him up and I told him that I thought it was ill advised and ill timed.

'Before I could explain my reasons, he said 'Okay, Okay,' and hung up. It was about an hour later when I got a call from a representative of the New York Times that he had told them of his resignation."

Crider's article said "The major opposition to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio springs from serious doubts as to his abilities and convictions in the field of foreign affairs."

Okays Domestic Policies

Crider said also he "must profess general approval of his (Taft's) views on domestic matters, (but) it is with regret that this reviewer must confess to genuine fear of Taft's blind spots in the international area."

The Crider article concludes with a statement that "Senator Taft's book should be widely read, but it should be read discerningly. It is full of booby traps."

The review by Prof. Rogers said "those who have found contradictions in Senator Taft's speeches will find them in his book."

Whiteside Farmers To Be Hosts To 35 Students Thanksgiving

MORRISON—Whiteside county farmers will throw open their homes this weekend to 35 foreign students from the University of Illinois to show the youngsters from other lands what a real American Thanksgiving is like.

The project is being sponsored by the Whiteside county Rural youth, Farm bureau and Home bureau in cooperation with the universities YMCA. The students, both men and women, will arive in Morrison about 5 p.m. Wednesday and stay with their hosts until Saturday.

According to Farm bureau officials many families in addition to those of Rural youth members have volunteered to house the foreign students for the four days.

Friday night, a formal reception will be held in the Farm bureau auditorium with the foreign students performin folk dances and singing songs. Rural youth members will conduct a square dance.

The foreign students will come from Afghanistan, Bolivia, Burma, England, Egypt. Germany, Iran, Iraq, Japan, Norway, Pakistan, The Philippines, Sweden, Switzerland, Latvia, Cuba and British North Borneo.

Dixonite Leaves To Serve Term At State Farm

Al J. Dennis, former fugitive from Lee county justice, who pleaded guilty in county court yesterday to a charge of lewd and lacivious conduct, was taken to the state penal farm at Vandalai this morning by Deputy Sheriff John Stauffer.

Dennis will serve a six-month sentence imposed by Judge Grover Gehant.

Yesterday, Sol Stern, Rockford professional bondsman, was refurded the money for Dennis' bond which was forfeited Nov. 18, 1950, when the Depot avenue cook left town.

The money was refunded as Dennis was brought into custody before 15 months time had elapsed.

Rate Higher Than Year of World War II

tims, are included in the current missing category, his report stated.

Lose in Retreats

Approximately half of all U.S. casualties in Korea have occurred since the bitter retreats and rear guard withdrawals of last winter and during the series of Red spring offensives and U.N. counter blows which have moved the battle line back to the center of Korea.

For the army and the navy, the Korean conflict has been the fourth costliest in U.S. history, ranking in human casualties after World War II, the Civil war and the first World war.

Marine Losses Heavy

Current Korean marine corps losses of over 16,000 make this undeclared war more costly in killed and wounded than all the wars, campaigns and expeditions which the Leathernecks fought from the Revolution until the start of World War II.

The records show that proportionately fewer Americans have been reported missing in Korea than during World War II.

The ratio of those killed and dead of wounds likewise is lower than it was during the last war. About 12.5 per cent of the total U.S. casualties in Korea fall in the missing column. In World War II, the percentage was 18.5.

17 of 100 Die

About 17 out of every 100 Americans who have appeared on Korean casualty lists were killed in action or died of their wounds. In World War II, which lasted nearly four years, the ratio was 21 out of every 100.

In 16 months of fighting in Korea, American combat losses have exceeded the 59,000 suffered from Pearl Harbor day through the end of 1942 in the last conflict. It was not until well into 1943 that U.S. casualty totals in World War II reached the 100,000 mark.

The total for that year, which saw bitter fighting in the Southwest Pacific, in North Africa and at other spots around the world, was 91,000.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Charles Cecil and two children of Sterling will go to Kansas City Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Burnham Hockaday.

Convict Man of 1922 Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — John P. Crozier, 59, was convicted yesterday of slaying his landlady in San Francisco nearly 29 years ago.

The jury recommended life imprisonment for the strangling and robbery of Mrs. Elizabeth Platt on Jan. 13, 1922.

The crime had remained on police ledgers as unsolved. Then, a year ago Crozier was arrested in Darien, Conn., for vagrancy. Police there said he babbled a partial confession to the 1922 slaying.

But when he was returned to California to face murder charges, he insisted that he had confessed in Connecticut only to escape spending a frigid New England winter in jail.

Sailor Says He's Not Responsible In Bus Tragedy

OAKLAND, Calif. —(AP)— A sailor indicted in connection with the Oct. 28 Greyhound bus tragedy which cost eight lives last night denied responsibility for the accident.

Orville C. Russell, boatswain's mate third class, had his attorney issue a statement that he was not intoxicated when his car smashed into a concrete abutment on the Oakland side of the San Francisco bay bridge.

The crackup knocked a concrete chunk into another lane where the bus hit it and went out of control. In addition to the eight lives lost, all the other 21 aboard the bus were injured.

Russell also is in a hospital. His statement denying he was intoxicated was made in reply to grand jury testimony yesterday that he drank heavily and drove wildly the night before the accident.

He was indicted on manslaughter and drunk driving charges.

Name 179 in New Casualty Report

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The defense department today identified 179 additional battle casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 445) reported 18 killed, 145 wounded, five missing in action and 11 injured in combat accidents.

The motto on the first penny authorized by the U.S. Congress was inspired by Benjamin Franklin and said, "Mind your business."

Clippers Have Little Trouble With Aces

Mihm Paces Attack Of Winners With 21; Montanus Scores 22

By HUGH HOUGH
(Telegraph Sports Editor)

ASHTON — Coach Orval Spurlin's Amboy Clippers had little trouble disposing of Ashton here Tuesday night, 56 to 40, in a typically-ragged basketball opener for both teams.

With 6-5 center Bill Mihm potting baskets consistently in the opening quarter, Amboy took the lead early in the game and never gave it up.

Amboy also won the opening game, 39 to 31.

Mihm finished the evening with 21 points, the fruits of nine baskets and three free throws, but even this fancy total wasn't good enough to cop scoring honors for the evening.

Mihm — Montanus

Montanus High Man

This distinction went to Tom Montanus, the lone veteran Coach Paul Crafts found available when basketball practice started this fall. The rangy senior guard got himself 10 baskets and two free throws for a 22-point bag to prevent a runaway Amboy victory.

Both teams were far from sharp. Both showed evidence of football ideas that haven't been erased by the young basketball season. Passing was poor on both sides—more-so on the part of Ashton, which lacked the experience of the Clippers.

Amboy Shows Promise

Amboy showed evidence of developing into the team Spurlin has hinted may bring Amboy back on the basketball map. Mihm is the key man in the Clipper attack. He showed a heap of promise against Ashton.

The Clippers outscored Ashton in every quarter except the third. After taking a 33 to 19 halftime lead, the Amboy five bogged down in the third period and at one time saw its lead slashed to seven points.

A good 17-point fourth quarter, however, more than offset the determined sharpshooting of Montanus, and Amboy had its first 1951-52 basketball victory.

The box score:

Amboy (56)	G.	F.	P.	Ashton (40)	G.	F.	P.
Gram	4	2	3	Nelson	2	0	3
Full	3	0	4	Hicks	1	0	0
Mihm	9	3	4	Cultra	2	1	5
Holt	4	7	4	Montanus	10	2	2
Montaven	1	2	3	Tews	2	3	3
Garland	0	0	0	Butler	0	0	5
Belcher	0	0	0	McCracken	0	0	1
Totals	21	14	18	Totals	17	6	19

Score by quarters—
Amboy ..... 12 15 9 17—56
Ashton ..... 14 5 11 10—40

Free throws missed: Amboy 7 (Gram 4, Mihm 3); Ashton 16 (Cultra 5, Montanus 7, Tews 4).
Officials: Falsone, BelPra, Rockford.

NCAA Seeking New Cure for Over-Emphasis

CHICAGO, (AP) — A strait jacket for overemphasis of collegiate sports has been devised by the NCAA policy-making council for national adoption.

Rigid controls that would jack up academic standards, provide an antidote for professionalism, combat recruiting, and in general, put a lid on pressures to win at any cost, were drafted by the all-powerful council after a two-day session.

The council ordered a moratorium throughout 1952 on contractural commitments for post-season events such as bowl games. A special study will be made to determine the degree of pressure post-season sports, especially bowl games, creates in the build up of overemphasis.

A 12-point reform program will be submitted to the NCAA convention in Cincinnati Jan. 9-12.

Hugh Willett of Southern California, NCAA president, said the program has the support of a "substantial majority" of the association's 320 member schools. With this support assured, officials held high hope of national acceptance.

ROCHESTER LOSES

(AP) — The Rochester Royals can be beaten. Indianapolis' Olympians proved that last night when they scored 10 points in the second overtime period to down the Western division leaders 69-65 in one of the three games played in the National Basketball association. The setback was only the second of the young season for the Royals and came after they had racked up five straight victories.

Mt. Morris Tops Forreston, 73-60

Mounders Hit At .460 Clip From Field

FORRESTON—Mt. Morris high school's highly-touted basketball team made its drum-beaters look good here Tuesday night as it opened the season with a 73 to 60 victory over a fine Forreston team.

Hitting at a .460 clip from the field, Coach J. R. Worley's Mounders used a big 24-point third quarter to gain the advantage that brought them their first 1951-52 success.

Hanke Paces Mounders

Just as in the 1950-51 season, when they won 21 of 23 starts, it was Junie Hanke who paced the Mounders' scoring. Against Forreston the eagle-eyed Hanke notched 11 field goals and four free throws for a gaudy 26 points. Hanke had help from Bob Hanes, who scored 14 points on seven baskets.

Jim Wubbena led the tall Forreston team in scoring with 22 points. He scored 10 baskets and two free throws.

Mt. Morris, forced to shoot from the outside during most of the evening because of the Forreston zone defense, found the long shots to its liking.

Forreston Tough

Forreston was little less effective than the winning Mounders. The Forreston team, a favorite in the Route 72 conference this season, registered a .400 field-goal shooting average.

In the preliminary game, Forreston defeated Coach Evan Kinsley's youngsters by a 46 to 31 score.

Boxer in Critical Condition After KO in Duluth

DULUTH, Minn., (AP)— A young heavyweight boxer was in critical condition in a hospital today suffering from a brain hemorrhage after being knocked out in a boxing bout last night.

Surgeons said an operation may be necessary for the boxer, Laverne Cole, 24, of St. Paul, Minn.

Cole was knocked out in the fourth round of a preliminary bout by Bunny Roetter, of Stillwater, Minn.

Franklin Grove Will Entertain Pawpaw Tonight

In the only Thanksgiving eve game scheduled in the Dixon area, Coach Max Patrick's Franklin Grove basketball team will open its home season tonight when it entertains Paw Paw

Franklin Grove has one victory to its credit already this season, a 51 to 43 conquest of Rollo, while Pawpaw fell to Leland Friday night in its only start.

COACH J. R. WORLEY

Monroe Center Whips Steward In 2nd Half

MONROE CENTER — Steward clung to the heels of a good Monroe Center basketball team through the first half here Tuesday night before fading to a 50 to 38 defeat.

Trailing only 24-21 at halftime, Coach Moe Errion's Steward club had visions of a victory in its first game until three starters fouled out in the third period. Those who fouled out were Charles Hare, the only returning letterman, and Jack Mershon and Charles Thorsen, a trio who supply most of Steward's height.

With the big boys out of the way, Monroe Center went on to score 17 points in the third quarter and 13 more in the final quarter to win going away.

Before the game had ended, all five of Steward's starters had been banished from the contest with five fouls. The last two starters to go were Neil Strawbridge and Ronnie Macklin.

Dwight McNight paced the Monroe Center attack with 17 points, scoring five baskets and seven free throws. Strawbridge managed to get 11 points for Steward before fouling out.

In the preliminary game, Monroe Center defeated Steward, 25 to 18.

Are Worley's 'Whiz Kids' That Tough?

MT. MORRIS—What about this Mt. Morris basketball team which started its 1951-52 season successfully Tuesday night at Forreston?

Will Coach J.R. Worley's squad materialize into the "dream team" so many Mt. Morris basketball fanatics are expecting?

Of course it's too early to say for sure just where this team is going. But Worley is quick to silence those whisperings that have been popping up now and then in Mound City, whisperings that sound like, "The Mounders are going downstate."

Worley knows that such whispers have supplied the kiss of death for the hopes of many promising basketball teams in the past. He doesn't want it to happen to J. R. Worley.

Admits Good Material

Of course, Worley will be the first to admit to you that he has some good material to work with. He has four starters back from the club that won 21 out of 23 games last season and he thinks he has a replacement for Dick Sharer, the starter who graduated. But he is wary of this situation, too.

"We're going to have an especially tough time this season because every team we play will be laying for us," Worley said recently.

Gene (Dux) Downing is the center Worley is grooming to take the place of Sharer in the Mounders' smooth offense. Downing is likely to start along with veterans Earl Hanke, Bill (Rusty) Egan, Jim Fridley and Bob Hanes. Gene Sweeney, who lettered last year as a junior, also will be available for varsity duty.

Other Seniors Ready

Other seniors whom Worley will have ready for action are Don Findlay, Dick Edwards, Vernon Arnold and Chuck Hagemann.

Juniors who reported for varsity practice are Ruddy Harris, Charley Kimball, Derrill Corbett, Dick Spink, Freddy Yoder, John Anderson, Dough Hartsell, Ralph Kielsmeire, Bill Root and Bert Holland.

Coach Evan Kinsley, whose frosh-soph squad registered a fine 14-4 record last season, will build a new team out of 16 eager underclassmen who reported for practice. They are:

Underclassmen Set

Jim Patterson, Dick Merwin, Roger Martin, Dan Noonkesser, Darrel Cory, Keith Nesemeier, Bob O'Connor, John Moore and John Watt, all sophomores, and Jerry Wallace, Bill Lundholm, Don Henderson, Bill Noonkesser, Harold Hanke, Jim Smith and Bob Labbe, all freshmen.

In Mt. Morris, they have tagged Coach Worley's squad the "Whiz Kids." Well, they're good, but only five months and a long schedule will tell if these Mounders deserve the name.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles on basketball prospects at Dixon area schools.

Swami Packs Bags, Then Picks Illini to Whip Northwestern

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ready for winter in a cloak of tar and feathers, the ol' swami leaves these final football gems before being run out of town:

Illinois 21, Northwestern 7—Those Illini are really ready for this one and won't let the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl trip slip from their grasp like last year . . . Look for Johnny Karras to run wild, possibly scoring a couple of times to total 14 touchdowns for the season and break Illinois' all-time mark of 13 held by Red Grange and Buddy Young . . .

Purdue 19, Indiana 13—Improving with every game, the Boilermakers will not slow up in keeping their title hopes alive with a victory should Illinois lose . . . They figure to capture the Old Oaken Bucket, symbolic of the intra-state rivalry, even though the Hoosiers have definite plans of winning this one for Coach Clyde Smith . . . Smith has resigned after four years as head coach . . .

Wisconsin 27, Minnesota 13—The Badgers can still figure in the Rose Bowl and title picture and won't relax . . . If they are serious, the margin could be greater . . . however, the Gophers' Paul Giel can give Wisconsin a hotfoot . . .

Ohio State 17, Michigan 13—Nothing at stake here except prestige . . . Usually this classic is a collision of title contenders . . . The Buckeyes feel right proud of their scoreless tie with Illinois and will be hepped up for a big windup . . . Michigan will be trying to avert a fourth straight setback . . .

Notre Dame 20, Iowa 12—The Hawkeyes may sling a Sunday punch to salvage something from a disappointing campaign . . . But it will take more than that to bowl over the Irish, who have halfbacks Billy Barrett and John Petitbon off the injury list . . .

Michigan State 28, Colorado 14—The Bisons from the Rockies have one of their better teams, but the Spartans won't be denied their first unbeaten season in 38 years . . .

Marquette 21, Santa Clara 19—(Sunday)—Shapes up as a close shave between two well-matched teams that have had their share of losses against some fast company . . . Santa Clara scared Stanford before losing 21-14 and the hilltoppers were shaded 20-14 by Michigan State . . . so flip the coin . . .

—NOW, THE FADEOUT—

(Dec. 1) Southern California 27, Notre Dame 21—The young Irish end a long season with thoughts of 1952 racing through their minds.

Rose Bowl—Illinois 21, Stanford 20—A corker . . .

Halfback Frank Hauff, captain of the Navy grid team, is a full time performer. He played the full 60 minutes in nearly all Navy's nine games last fall.

It's Owens, Not Mighty Atlas

NO, THAT MAN with his back to the camera is not Mighty Atlas of TV wrestling fame. He is Coach Sam Owens, who is in the process of demonstrating a hold to the 44 men who reported for the first Dixon high school wrestling practice Tuesday afternoon. Owens' victim is Denton Swarts.

PRE-TURKEY PICKINGS

Before leaving for a short Thanksgiving holiday jaunt, Coach Lon Scofield indicated that Dixon's starting basketball lineup in Clinton Friday night will look something like this: GUARDS: John Weltzel, Phil Kernan.
CENTER—Jim Gorman.

FORWARDS: Al Newcomer, John Bruce.

Scofield also hinted that Henry Dixon, Jim Boedeker and Jack Munson will see plenty of action in the curtain-raiser.

AT MUNSON, Scofield tossed these posies: "He's our most improved player so far this season.

From Mt. Morris this morning, Coach J. R. Worley didn't try to hide the satisfaction his "Whiz Kids" supplied in their opening 73 to 60 win over Morrison.

"WE STILL LACK that big man," said Worley, "but a man can't hardly do much crying when his team scores 73 points."

Worley's team will get a major test Friday night when it meets East Rockford at Rockford. How will Mt. Morris do against the big-city boys?

"Mt. Morris will give Rockford all it wants," Coach Bob Brinkmeier of Forreston told us this morning.

FROM OVER ASHTON WAY

WHILE watching the Ashton-Amboy basketball game last night, we saw a basketball oddity that sent us back to the rule book.

TOM MONTANUS, Ashton's fine guard, lost a successful free throw attempt because he spent too much time at the line preparing for the toss. Tom didn't need the point (he scored 22) but his Ashton mates could have used it in their unsuccessful chase of Amboy.

Also from Ashton, we might report that Bill Mihm, Amboy's 6-5 center, may be the most improved player in the area this season. Mihm has added some weight to his lengthy frame and he also is handling himself much better than last season. In the first quarter against Ashton last night he dunked four one-handed push shots in a row.

NOT MUCH GLAMOR HERE

If Coach Sam Owens didn't scare away any of the 44 wrestling candidates he entertained at the first practice Tuesday afternoon, it wasn't because he painted a rosy picture of what was in store for the boys.

"IF YOU'RE LOOKING for a snap activity in wrestling, then you might as well leave now," he told his charges, "because wrestling is going to be the toughest sport you'll participate in at Dixon high school."

Owens told the boys, however, that wrestling has no equal as a physique developer.

PROMINENT AMONG the 44 candidates were many members of Owens' football squad. Wrestling long has been recommended as a good football conditioner.

Races Tight At All Spots In Lineups

Crabtree, Page High on List of Vote-Getters

With one day of balloting remaining in the poll to pick the All-Time Dixon football team, the races for every position have tightened up and only a few leaders remain outstanding.

Voting ends tonight(Wednesday) at midnight.

John Crabtree is one of the top ballot-getters with 174 votes, leading the guards. His lead, however, is less than 10 votes over Gerald Bates. Also high in the guard race are Don Lerdell, Hubert Stultz and Frank Keller.

Close Race at Ends

At the ends a close race between Winston McReynolds, Earl Page, Lloyd Miller and Curtis Strong is developing. Page, with heavy late balloting, holds a short edge.

Both tackle spots are still question marks. Don Barnhardt, Earl Kelchner, Gus Bondi, Clyde Daniels, Les Bremer and Jim Wolf all have a chance at taking a first string position.

Oakford Leads Centers

Bill Oakford has taken over the lead in the center spot race. Oakford, in yesterday's voting, drew a seven ballot margin over Don Nicklaus, the previous leader. Also close are Glenn Rosbrook, Francis Kennedy and Don Rosecrans.

Elwood McReynolds still contiues to hold his slim lead over Don Miller in the backfield race. Others close up are: George Wolford, Bob Underwood, Hank Henry, Marvin Rebuck, Gerald Ankeny, Ray Daniels, Joy Ellis, Louis Bevilacqua and Bud Lightner.

We received a call from Ralph Schroeder of Joe Miller's Boynton-Richard's team this morning and Ralph said: "Friday, as you've probably noticed Boyntons five needs a little practice and I wish you'd try to get a match game for us. Perhaps if you put a word in the column. But just one condition. It must be a poor girls' team." We're always ready to help anyone improve their bowling and we first was going to suggest they bowl their wives, but happened to think that with the exception of Leona Hahn and Alice Hill none of their wives bowl, but then neither do——No we'll not say that because these fellows are all pretty good friends of ours—but we might suggest they get in touch with Pearl Detweiler of the Pauls Inns girls, who could use a win over a man's team to build up their confidence after a rather bad start this season . . . Grobe of Machine Shop spaced his games nine pins with 123-114-105 . . . Harm Krull was the most consistent kegler in the Public Service loop, lopping off just two pins a set with 152-150-148 . . . Les Higgs was the most inconsistent, the Sales Manager using all his discounts for the next 30 days in his first set, when he had 84 and jumped to 173 and 186, for a raise of 122 counters . . . His teammates, Jerry Emmert and Harold Healy spaced their games 16 pins. Jerry having 167-151-135 and Harold 178-162-146 . . . Dick Arndt had a one-pin difference in his games of 178, 179, 180, and Kenny Hackbarth carried this theme clear through his series, having 15-1, 15-2, 15-3 which added up to 4-5-6 . . . Someone must have been turning in entries to the ABC to our City Secretary Clint Emmert in his second game, for how else can you account for the 122 he slipped to with a 200 first game and a 207 finale . . . Don't forget the holiday schedule for tomorrow: No bowling at all at the Lanes, with Ed closing up to doctor his approaches, and Ken opening the Recreation around 2 p. m. with the closing time uncertain.

LITTLE EGYPT'S GYM-BUILDING SPREE

Cost High, But Southern Illinois Fans Want Seats

By MERLE JONES
Sports Editor
Southern Illinoisan

CARBONDALE—(AP)—Southern Illinois, one of the nation's hotbeds of high school basketball, once more is busy dedicating new gyms.

Tonight, Centralia plays at Salem in the dedication of Egypt's newest structure, a $400,000 sports palace seating more than 4,000. A few miles away at Fairfield another new gym also is being opened tonight.

Some Christened

Already chistened the past week were the new gyms at Harrisburg, Pinckneyville and Galatia. Harrisburg's $450,000 addition seats 3,600 fans.

Contractors are straining to finish gyms for use this season or next year at Christopher, Anna-Jonesboro, Hrico of Ava, Golconda, Waltonville and Cave-in-Rock.

Marion, Herrin, West Frankfort, Murphysboro, Elkville, Sesser, Norris City and McLeansboro opened their new gyms last year.

The South Seven conference, biggest in Egypt, has some gyms which would be a credit to small colleges. The seven schools combined can show a seating capacity averaging more than 3,000 per school.

Only Benton with a 1,200 limit is far below the conference average. West Frankfort, Harrisburg, Marion, Herrin and Centralia can accommodate 3,000 to 4,500 fans.

So many new gyms have been built that Egypt has even become a pioneer in design. Herrin was the first to build the bowl-type gym. The contractor went underground to build a concrete bowl, added a roof and sides. The result was a low, rather flat building which saved thousands of dollars in eliminating the high brick walls normally necessary for standard gyms. Today Norris City, Murphysboro, Pinckneyville and Trico of Ava also have such gyms.

The tax indebtedness for the new gyms runs up to about $20 for every man, woman and child in Egypt. But who cares! It's worth something to be sure of getting a seat.

Parents Spurn New Cancer Drug, Doom Boy to Early Death

ALAMEDA, CALIF. —(AP)— The distraught parents of three-year-old Rodney Dale have made a heart-breaking decision—to let him die of cancer as soon as possible.

It was one of the toughest decisions a parent could be called upon to make.

A hospital doctor told Mr. and Mrs. LeeRoy Dale that a nitrogen-mustard compound might keep the spark of life alive in Rodney's pain-wracked body for two or three months more.

"We thought about it for a long time," said 29-year-old Mrs. Bonnie Dale last night.

"Then we decided against it. It would only prolong Rodney's misery. And he's miserable enough now."

Has His Christmas

Death may come at any time. Already Rodney has had his Christmas tree and toys. But he scarcely was able to know it.

Little Rodney became ill last August. Doctors collapsed a lung in September and operated. They found cancer cells were filling his body.

They told the parents to take him home. There was nothing more they could do.

The 33-year-old father laid off work as a freight handler to be with his son.

Couldn't Walk

Breathing for Rodney became laborious. He couldn't walk, scarcely could eat. All he wanted was to ride. His father took him daily —in cars loaned by neighbors.

Staying off work erased Father Dale's slim funds. Last Saturday the word of his plight got out to the newspapers.

The story brought an outpouring of generosity.

The Dales have no telephone. So people by the hundreds went to the home.

"There must have been 500 of them," Mrs. Dale said.

Bring Food

The callers brought hams, turkeys, home-canned delicacies, and toys. Three nuns from Berkeley came with a decorated Christmas tree. A merchant seaman brought presents picked up in the Orient.

Yesterday Dr. Luigi Luzzatti, medical director of Children's hospital offered the gift of medical aid—an offer to retard the growth of the cells with a drug. He made it clear that Rodney would die any way—but perhaps not until Christmas was over.

"We felt the child's parents should make the choice," the doctor said.

Tearfully the Dales searched their hearts and came up with the answer they felt was best even for Rodney. It was "No."

Today Rodney, in great pain, grew weaker. Death might come in days—or hours.

Gas Rate Hike Would Not Boost Profits, Claim

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Counsel for the Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America says a 10 per cent rate increase to its natural gas customers in Illinois would not increase the firm's profit.

Under the proposed rate increase, the company would sell to distributors at cost gas taken from a new line being built by an affiliate, the Texas-Illinois Pipeline Co. That statement was made yesterday by D. H. Culton, company counsel, at a power commission hearing.

The commission has held up the increases pending outcome of the hearing. The company wants to charge its customers in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas and Nebraska 10 per cent more than at present.

Pigs Get New Diet, Step Up Porkchop Rate

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP) — America's little pigs may be hastened to market with a new synthetic milk and summoned to meals with phonograph records of sow's grunts.

Herbert G. Luther, research scientist with Chas. Pfizer &Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., said that piglets fed the new concoction weighed 10 to 35 pounds more than normally-suckled ones in an eight-week period. He spoke at the animal nutrition symposium at the University of Minnesota farm last night.

Trade named Terralac, the synthetic contains terramycin, an antibiotic that stimulates growth, dry skim milk, lard to supply fats, fish oils and tiny amounts of vitamins and minerals.

Normally sleepy critters, pigs are usually awakened by the sow's grunting. Luther put the grunts on records which were played every hour on the hour at feeding time.

Navy School Takes Recess Until '52

ANNAPOLIS, Md. —(AP)—The technical branch of the U.S. naval postgraduate school, established here in 1909, closed its doors today after 42 years of operation. By the time classes are resumed on Feb. 18, 1952, for the second half of the present school year, it will be consolidated with the tactical branch of Monterey, Calif.

EARLY BIRD — Hollywood actress Julia Adams has her Thanksgiving menu all planned, even to the selection of the bird. She realizes there aren't many more chopping days until Thanksgiving.

West Coast Woman Loses Wealth, Ends Life in Bathtub

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Hilda Weber, 65, who once owned two of the most luxurious homes in Southern California, was found dead last night in a modest rented bungalow.

A note to her husband, who served her as butler before their marriage in 1933, complained of financial troubles.

Coroner John B. Ross termed the death a suicide. He said he believed she took sleeping pills and then climbed into a water-filled bathtub to end her life. The body was found by her husband, Joseph Otto Weber.

State Traffic Deaths Set New High for Month

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Illinois highway traffic deaths mounted to a 10-year high last month.

A total of 225 persons were killed, the state highway division reported yesterday. The figure exceeded the toll for any month since December, 1941, when 317 perished as a result of highway accidents.

In October, 1950, there were 191 fatalities.

Deaths for the first 10 months of this year ran ahead of the corresponding 1950 period, 1,640 to 1,602.

Hope to Rescue Victims of Po River Flood

MILAN, Italy —(AP)— Rescue workers spurred efforts today to clear marooned towns and villages in the Po river delta before threatened new flood crests could roll down Italy's biggest river.

Steady rains at the headwaters of the Po and along many of its tributaries in Northern Italy increased fears of new dangers in the area, where 100 have lost their lives in the past week and thousands have been made homeless.

Name Van Fleet Honorary Mayor

SEOUL, (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet, bareheaded and wearing his pearl-handled pistol, today was made honorary mayor of Seoul as this war-wrecked city observed a double anniversary.

Van Fleet smiled and saluted as Seoul mayor Kim Tai Sun handed the Eighth army commander a scroll and key to the city.

A metropolis of 1,500,000 population before the Korean war, Seoul today lies battered from the fighting which raged as the city changed hands four times.

My Friend Irma Plans Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) —Actress Marie Wilson will wed television producer Robert Fallon Dec. 14 in Santa Barbara, Calif.

It will be the first marriage for Fallon, 31, who is from Memphis, Tenn. Miss Wilson, 35, was divorced from Actor Allan Nixon last Dec. 29 after eight years of marriage.

It's All So Confusing To Be Korean in These Bloody Times

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — A Thanksgiving prayer by a Korean:

O Lord of our household, we thank thee for the ripe persimmon, the golden gourd, the rice that has ripened in the paddies.

We thank thee for the daughter that is her, the son that is still among us. We pray thy help for the sons who are away.

On this day of bounty we also pray thy blessing upon the quaint stranger among us—the American, and his friends. They surely follow their duty.

Dear Lord, it is hard to be a Korean in these days. There is the question of how we should turn. And no matter how we turn there is trouble.

We Are Humble

We are, O Lord, as thou knowest, an humble farm folk. Our days are measured by the turning sun. The best reward we can hope for is good weather. When the grain ripens, we ripen. When the rice tumbles under storm, we falter.

Our hopes rise or fall with the growth in the fields. Such are we. No people to rise up and boldly change any other people's history—but one who has always been ready to rise to defend our own.

The Russians and their Chinese friends come down from the north to tell a Korean what a Korean should be. And from the south the stubborn Americans and their Allies say what a Korean should also be.

All Confusing

It is all so confusing, bloody, and temporary. The average Korean would like to take time off, look at himself in the mirror—and see what he would like a Korean to be.

O Lord, our people is divided. We are unique in history. We are caught in a civil war—a war this side and that side of the 38th parallel. And we are also become an international testing ground of the weapons of outsiders.

But a people and a land must choose, O Lord. And on this day of Thanksgiving, it the mouth of South Korea that speaks thy praise here.

Virtues Like Snow

Our faults are sores in thy divine eyes. Our virtues are as snows before thy suns. They melt, and they are humble.

Yet, O Lord, Korea must be our own Korea again. It was our fair land of morning calm for so long. It must be our fair land of morning again.

There was a time before the foreigners first came when a Korean, dying, was buried huddled in a hill slope that looked across a greening paddy and a flowing stream to another hill beyond.

It was all Korea then. And that is the way it must be again. A Korean must have a place to die in—and to live in—that he can call his own.

He must, O Lord, have a land he can call—his chosen.

Oregon Group Plans Silent Auction Soon

OREGON—The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Monday night at 8 p.m. A silent auction will be held. Refreshments will be served by Bertha Deuth, Florence Dentler, Edith Elliott, Virginia Pfefferkorn, Bette Landers, Isabel Wright, Anna Wade, and Sara White.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Etnyre will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Lou Chansky of Moline, Mr. and Mrs. Ear Keiser, Lee and John, Sterling Pfc. and Mrs. Robert Keier of Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., and Ben Etnyre, Oregon, for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mammenga will spend Thursday in Chicago at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs. Joseph Ritson and family.

Past Noble Grand Society of the Rebekah will meet Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Thanksgiving guests in the home of the Lester Myers will be Mr. and Mrs. Chrissie Myers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Myers and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Wenton Frey and family of Polo.

Woman's Relief Corp will have a regular meeting Friday at 2:30 p.m.

PRODUCTION SLUMPS

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Milk production in Illinois slumped last month, the state-federal agriculture departments reported today.

Output totaled 378,000,000 pounds. This was six per cent below October, 1950, and eight per cent below the 10-year average for the month of October.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING CAN BE ... FUN

WHAT is the magic of Christmas? The new fishing rod that makes Dad so happy... the "surprise" refrigerator that brings a quiver to Mother's lips... the yelps of glee from the youngsters...? True, this is the glorious Finale... But the real magic of Christmas comes in choosing the right gifts for the right person... in choosing gifts to convey the full measure of your Yuletide greetings... And what fun this can be... The stores downtown scintillate with wonderful gift ideas... so many in fact, you'll have a great time just inspecting them... Your favorite clerks are on hand, ready to help you make your choices... Shop early... shop morning, noon or Saturday evenings... at your personal convenience... here at home where everything you'll want to give is on hand, backed by the reputation of stores you know... Christmas shopping can be fun when you shop here at home among friends and neighbors.

Neew Tricks for Fruitcake Fanciers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's something new in fruitcake for holiday eaters with a real sweet tooth. Put sticks of dark fruitcake, enriched with Brazil nuts, into wide-necked jars and cover them with an orange syrup Then seal and mellow for home eating, or wrap the jars festively and give away for gifts

To make the sticks prepare your favorite recipe for dark rich fruitcake, using Brazil nuts for the nut meats called for. To prepare the shleled Brazil nuts for the cake cover them with cold water and bring slowly to a boil, boil for three minutes, or until the nuts may be sliced easily. Drain and cut in thin lengthwise pieces so they'll show in creamy slices in the fruitcake sticks and right through the jars.

BRAZIL NUT FRUITCAKE STICKS

Ingredients: 1 one-pound loaf dark fruitcake made with Brazil nuts (baked in 6x3x2-inch pan), 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup light corn syrup, ½ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon rum flavoring

METHOD: Cut cake into 8 slices; cut each slice in half Place sticks upright into two wide-neck pint jars Put sugar corn syrup, and orange juice in saucepan, cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved Bring to a boil and cook 3 minutes Remove from heat; stir in rum flavoring. Pour over fruitcake sticks, cover jars.

Perfect to accompany this super-rich fruitcake dessert, or to serve with fresh fruit, is Italian coffee—dark and flavorful because of its slow roasting. This demitasse coffee should never be served with cream, though sugar is permissible A twist of lemon peel in it is allowed! You may make his Italian-type coffee in a regulation drip or vacuum coffee maker, but not in a percolator. Or if you have a continental "macchinetta"—little machine—especially designed for preparing coffee, use it of course.

It Tops Texas!

DENVER, (AP) — Colorado's Gov. Dan Thornton had a turnip dinner the other night. One turnip did it, too. It was a six-pound giant grown by Charles Storm at Silver Plume, a Colorado mountain village.

The governor commented the turnip was "even bigger than they grow in Texas." Thornton is a native of the Lone Star state.

VANCOUVER, B. C. —(AP)— Just a few minutes after the policeman on the beat had stopped for his nightly chat and departed, the night attendant at a garage here was confronted by an armed holdup man who robbed the till of $35.

ARCHER — Robert F. Kelly holds the antlers of a 120-pound deer shot with a bow and arrow at Nason Creek Reserve in eastern Washington. The Seattle hunter used a 55-pound composite bow to down the buck at a range of 100 yards. Most deer shot by archers are within 50 yards. (NEA)

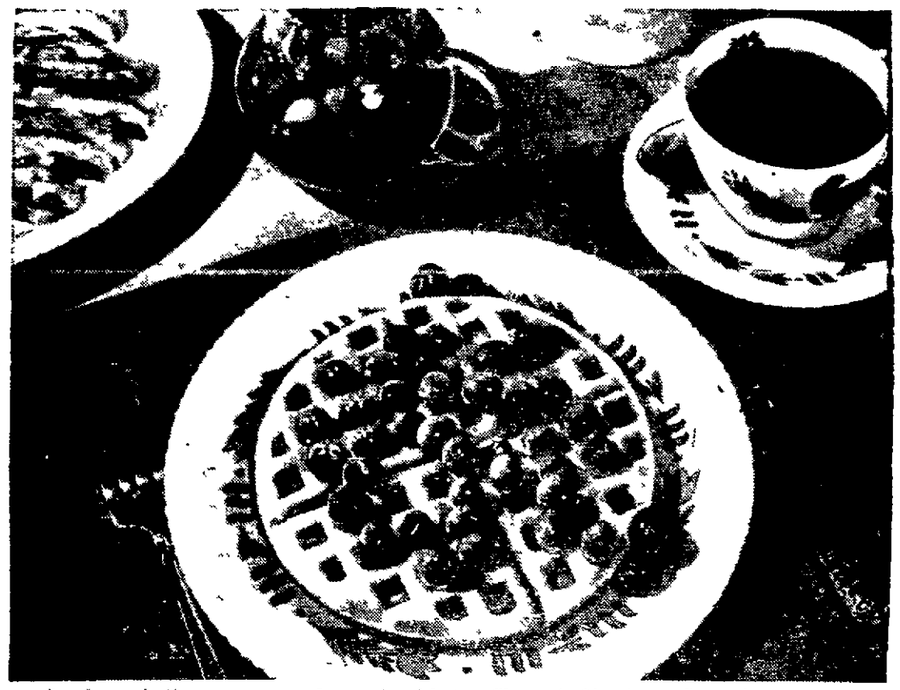
US Tin Mission

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, (AP)—The announcement that a United States tin mission is coming to Malaya to study the industry here has aroused speculation about possible renewal of Anglo-U S. negotiations for a tin agreement.

Tin men here say such an agreement would be acceptable to the Malayan mining industry if it is spread over a period of three to five years and carries a U. S. guarantee for a fixed price that is economic for Malaya.

The American group includes Gen. Tom Wilson, of the general services administration; Spencer Shannon and George Esuver, of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Charles Merrill, of the U S. bureau of mines, and Harlan Bramble of the U. S state department.

CHRISTMAS BREAKFAST MENU



Cranberry butter sauce, poured over breakfast waffles, gets Christmas off to a happy start.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Christmas is a busy day—and all to the good Nevertheless Christmas breakfast should be important—it's the first meeting of the excited family on one of the greatest days of the year

The meal should be substantial but not elaborate. There's a new cranberry butter sauce, Christmas red in color, that suggests hot waffles or griddle cakes

Cranberry-Butter Sauce
(Makes about 1¾ cup)

One cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, 2 cups fresh cranberries, ½ cup butter or margarine

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes Add cranberries and boil, without stirring, until cranberries pop—about 5 minutes Stir in margarine, boil 2-3 minutes longer Serve hot over pancakes or waffles.

With the waffles and cranberry butter, have fruit juice first, then crisp bacon or little link pork sausages.

Another menu suggestion for the Christmas stocking breakfast is this easy to prepare and wonderfully easy to eat meal· Orange juice, oven baked eggs and bacon, drop biscuits, butter, strawberry jam, coffee, milk.

The biscuits, bacon and eggs for this breakfast are done in the oven at the same time The biscuits are put in first, then the bacon and eggs after 10 minutes At the end of 20 minutes—breakfast is ready. While breakfast is cooking in the oven prepare the orange juice—fresh or frozen—and set the table

Drop Biscuits
(14 to 16 biscuits)

Use prepared biscuit mix and follow package directions, or sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, and 1 teaspoon salt Cut in 4 tablespoons shortening with pastry blender until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add 1 cup milk, stirring with a fork Drop by tablespoonfuls on baking sheet or turn into greased muffin pans Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) 20 minutes

Oven Baked Eggs

Use individual baking dish, or 1 large shallow baking dish Grease baking dish, carefully break in 1 or 2 eggs in each dish, add 1 tablespoon cream or top milk for each egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 minutes or until firm

Oven Cooked Bacon

Put strips on rack and place in shallow pan Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) 10 minutes or until crisp

For a little extra Yuletime early in the day eating, these two recipes have holly in their heart.

Tabasco Scrambled Eggs With Sausage
(6 servings)

One dozen eggs, ¼ cup milk, 1 tablespoon salt, ½ teaspoon Tabasco, ¼ cup butter or margarine.

Beat eggs with milk, salt and tabasco until well combined. Melt butter in large skillet, pour in egg mixture Cook over medium heat, stirring bottom and sides as eggs become firm. Continue until eggs are thick and creamy Serve immediately with link sausage.

Sausage

Place link sausage in cold skillet and cook over low heat, turning frequently until browned, about 12 to 15 minutes Pour off fat as it accumulates.

Staying on Farm

BOSTON, (AP) — Keeping young people down on the farm is getting easier

The Midcentury Conference on Youth found there are fewer boys and girls leaving farms—in Massachusetts at least—because the work is lighter, more interesting and drudgery is almost a thing of the past.

Are Dolls Smarter Than Humans?

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The talents of the doll population of the U.S.A. are reaching such heights that it begins to seem that dolls may be smarter than people.

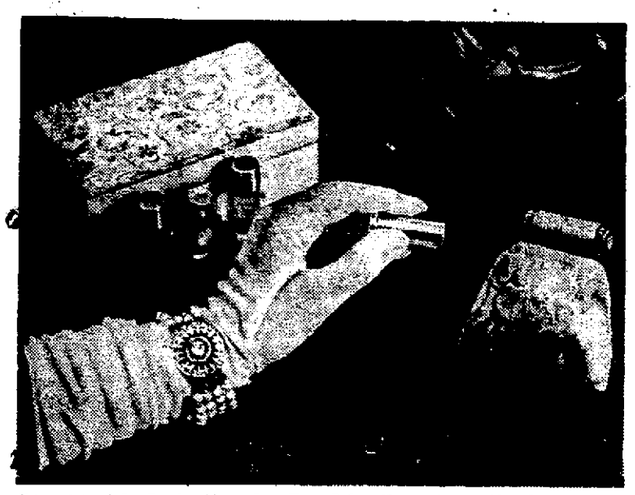
In the lineup for Christmas, 1951, are dolls who walk and talk, speak Spanish and French, eat, burp, breathe and get their hair dyed. It's enough to frighten Santa himself, being responsible for all these highly active doll people, who for all he knows mayeven have complexes and psychoses about reindeer and chimneys.

There is, for instance, the "Magic Muscle" doll, who walks gracefully when her arms are held, and "Saucy Walker," who also moves her arms and rolls her eyes. Noma, the electronic doll, now sings, prays and talks in three languages when a button on her tummy is pressed.

For the delight of young beauticians, there's a glamor girl doll with a specially treated wig who comes equipped with a hair-tinting set. There also in Sweet Sue, the chignon doll, who carries her chignon in a plastic hatbox and can have an endless number of hairdos.

Baby dolls now cry real tears, eat, burp and have a "real" scalp with hair that may be brushed and shampooed. One bright baby pats her hands when squeezed.

High fashion is represented by a modish doll dressed in costumes designed by Schiaparelli, and there are other dolls in Wild West regalia, as well as brother-and-sister dolls in matching outfits.



Luxury at budget prices is offered by these two gifts in elegant brocade. Attractive jewelry box (left) contains three purse-sized bottles of perfume nestled within its removable tray. Tiny evening purse (right) contains mirrored compact and has a loop at top for lipstick case. Present them separately, or as duo.

Child's fork-and-spoon in silverplate make gift with something extra in way of small plastic duck that's a real toy.

New waffle baker has grids that need no breaking-in, five automatically controlled settings for waffles.

Glamor Gifts Are Tops For Girls of All Ages

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeature Beauty Editor

Glamor gifts are sure-fire favorites at Christmas time. You can be sure to find a little scented something at whatever price you can afford on store cosmetic shelves. There is a gift for the casual friend and that very special friend. Here are some of the interesting things available as stocking stuffers or under-the-tree surprises:

For Mom . . . A mammoth "feed-bag" in calf with special outside compartments and a golden plaid compact and lipstick . . . a beauty wallet containing compact, lipstick and all identification compartments, in handsome leather case . . . evening bag pouch in black or silver brocade . . . perfume, cologne, etc.

To Granny . . . Package of almond and lanolin soap, French milled . . . plastic reindeers dragging yule logs each containing 18 bath salt tablets . . . transparent plastic box containing purse flacon of roses and spices . . . cream satin pillow containing floral scented sachet.

For Sis . . . Solid cologne packed in a Santa . . . miniature opera glasses filled with perfume in a "magic hour" scent . . . a purse-size sectional cylinder containing cleansing cream, foundation cream, rouge, powder, lipstick . . . a quickie kit containing comb and hair-brush . . . a pretty dresser set.

That Special Friend . . . A crystal perfume bottle for the dresser . . . Yule stocking filled with soap, sachet, perfume, milk bath petale, small dumbbell of perfume, purse-size pixie parasol with long-handled staff and gold butterfly containing lipstick . . . budget travel kit with lavender-scented make-up pick-me-ups.

Stocking Stuffers . . . Greeting card with powder puff . . . a holiday party snapper containing solid cologne . . . eyelash curler in plastic case . . . nail polish and lipstick set . . . dustingpowder . . . bath salt sponges . . . soap . . . bubble bath.

That Extra-Special Somebody . . . A lipstick wrapped in silver-blu or ranch mink, ermine or pony skin . . . perfume . . . a handsome fitted traveling case . . . nail implements in a leather case . . . a set of dresser brushes with sterling silver backs.

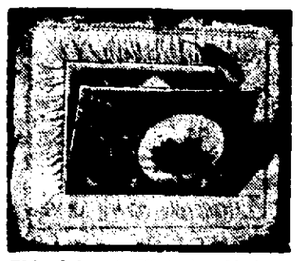
10-Day Visit

BALTIMORE, (AP) — A 56-year old man from Arkansas had the right plea, but the wrong town.

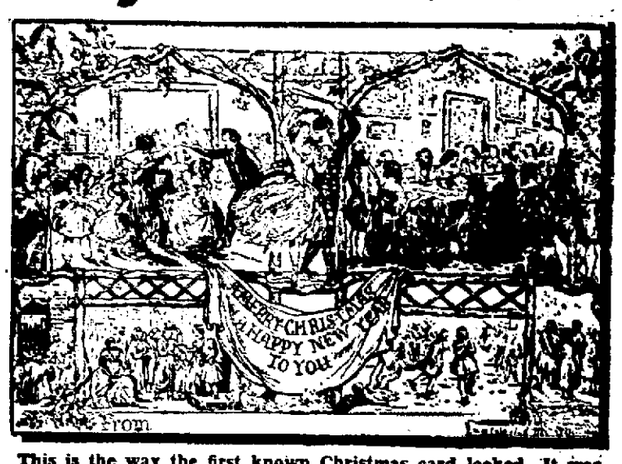
"Just give me a break, your honor," he pleaded before Magistrate John Berry on a drunk and disorderly count. "I'll get out of town right away. I'm on my way to Baltimore to visit my brother."

He was taken over to the city jail to visit the boys there for 10 days.

1842 Greeting Still a Favorite



This elaborate Victorian Christmas card, puffed and fringed in white silk, was typical of the cards of its day.



This is the way the first known Christmas card looked. It was printed in England in 1842; was designed by a sixteen year-old artist and sent as a greeting to his friends.

By GAILE DUGAS

If, during the holidays, you should open an envelope to find that it contained a Christmas card decorated with seaweed or luggage labels, you might not be amused.

Back in the Victorian era, you would have gotten something like that, or else a card trimmed with bits of blanket, real corks or dried flowers.

The Christmas card custom that we accept as an integral part of the holidays is a relatively new one. It really got its start in the Victorian England of the 1840's.

Victoria and Albert had just introduced the Christmas tree to their subjects and a writer named Charles Dickens had penned a book that all of England wept over and loved. It was called "A Christmas Carol."

In a collection of prints and drawings in the British Museum, there's a card that is believed to be the world's first Christmas card. It bears the date 1842 and the 16-year-old artist who created it signed himself, "W. M. Egley, Junr."

But the Christmas card custom as we know it really caught on during the 1860's. The first commercial cards appeared in England in 1862, the year of the second Great International Exhibition.

These first cards were designed by an artist named C. H. Bennett, who had done a good deal of work for the old Punch magazine. His designs were staggeringly unoriginal. His humor was crude and the color used in the cards was poor but nevertheless, the idea gained favor.

In America, Louis Prang is generally regarded as the father of the American Christmas card. The first of the prize competitions he held for designs took place in June, 1880, and got the popularity of the custom well under way in this country.

A decade earlier, Prang had tried some cards on a small scale. He even thought up an enterprising idea: Three large cards and a smaller one intended for decorating the home.

Frosting, jeweling and lace paper trim were all familiar to Victorians. But ribbon was not. It came into general use much later.

The greeting that W. M. Egley composed for that first, momentous card of his is still the greeting that Americans like best today: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You."

Little White Lie

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., (AP)—A lie detector caught a girl employe of St. Anthony hospital in a fib about her age.

She was being questioned about the disappearance of a baby from the hospital. She answered all questions satisfactorily until asked her age. She gave it as 18 years. The questioning officer looked at the instrument and said:

"Are you sure?" The girl blushed. "I'm a year younger," she admitted.

Here's Six Ways to Keep On Living During Icy Weather

Based on authoritative research by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards, the following are recommended precautions to avoid accidents and traffic troubles this winter:

1. Get the "feel" of the road by trying your brakes while driving slowly and when no other vehicles are near.

2. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Realize that synthetic tires skid and spin more on snow and ice than pre-war tires, although cold synthetic rubber wears better and performs normally on wet or dry pavements. But slow down on snowy or icy roads so you can stop when you have to.

3. Use tire chains for severe snow or ice conditions. They cut braking distances on cars and trucks 40 to 70 per cent and provide needed stop-and-go traction. Even with definite help of chains, careful driving is necessary.

4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance — remember that, without chains, it takes from 3 to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

5. When you have to stop, pump your brakes up and down—jamming them on may lock the wheels and throw your car into a skid.

6. Keep your windshield and windows clear of snow and ice, fog and frost. Be sure your headlights, windshield-wiper blades, and defrosters are in good working order. You must see danger to avoid it.

Proves She's Sailor

PROVIDENCE, R. I. —(AP)—Brisk fall breezes pushing her 19-foot sailboat helped pretty Shirley Whitcomb, 22, a student nurse, to prove she is a sailor recently. She owns the boat jointly with a friend. She used it during the summer at her parent's summer home at Old Lyme, Conn.

Fall arrived with variable winds that usually keep small boats in sheltered waters. But she wanted the boat in Providence so she could work on it during the fall and spring. So she sailed it the 100 miles to a winter harbor.

She took three days to make the trip, saling with a different person (two friends and her father) each day. On one trip of 27 nautical miles she averaged nine knots. She said she didn't see any other small boats on the whole trip. And sometimes she wondered if the sails would hold. But now the boat is in Providence and she plans to scrape the paint off and repaint it.

Tangled Deer

CENTRALIA, Ill. — (AP) — Hunters along the Kaskaskia river happened onto a big 5-point buck deer, trapped by grape vines twined rope-like in his antlers.

While others held the buck, one man cut it free. Then, fearful the scared beast might attack, they used trees for protection. But the 300 pounder—perhaps grateful—bounded away.

Fringe Makes a Gift You Can Make Yourself

Even the woman who can't sew will find these gifts easy to make. Triangular stole (upper left) is monk's cloth trimmed in wool fringe. Evening bag (left center) is made of cosmetic bag and silver satin fringe. Guest towels (lower left) are made individual by fringe trim. Evening stole (above) is cotton satin in an oblong shape. Evening bag (upper right) is easily handmade of gold upholstery brocade. Ordinary cotton gloves (right center) become high fashion with fringe trim. Burlap place mats (lower right) take on expensive look through cord rope and bushy fringe trim. All gifts take minimum time to make.

Sweet Talk

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., (AP) —Casey, the cop, will have to turn diplomat to carry out an assignment recently handed the Chattanooga police department.

Officers are instructed to strike up a conversation with any school age child they see on the streets during class hours.

Chief Ed Ricketts says officers must not intimidate the children but "try to talk them, in a nice manner, into going back to their class rooms."

If Skinny will talk, the cop is to get his name and school, then telephone his principal. It's a co-operative project thought up by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to combat delinquency.

Communists Have Continuous Problem of "Staying In"

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(AP)— It would be a little gruesome if the Communists took over here, judging from what's happened elsewhere.

Wherever they move in they have the immediate problem of trying to stay in. This seems to be a continuing problem since the Russian Communists, after being in 34 years, still need a secret police.

For the Communists, as their history shows, staying in means getting rid of members of the opposition, active or potential, or crushing it in several well-known ways: Confiscating their property; forcing them into labor camps; or executions.

Traditionally the Communists look for their opposition in these two groups:

1. Those with material possession who can't be expected to embrace the Communists for taking it away from them—the rich, property owners, businessmen, and farmowners whose land will be collectivized.

2. Those who disagree with the Communists in ideological grounds, a large group including religious leaders, teachers and intellectuals.

Suppressions and liquidations in Russia are familiar. There have been some recent examples. Reports from China, reliable or not, tell of more than 1,000,000 people executed in massive purges.

From Hungary come stories of more than 50,000 of the middle-class taken from their homes in just a couple of months and thrown into labor camps with farmers and landowners.

Besides telling of thousands of American soldier-prisoners slain by the Communists, the U.S. army in Korea last week reported South Korean civilians slaughtered in batches by the Communists.

But in this country, because of special conditions, the Communists would encounter a problem more complex than any they've found elsewhere. No doubt this would call forth their greatest efforts.

In just sheer number of oppositionists we outdo any other country so far Communised because we have more property owners, businessmen, religious leaders, teachers and intellectuals.

What makes this country unique is the number of tieups or links between the members of the groups through their organizations: Fraternal, social, labor, business, professional, religious and political.

For instance, the Elks, Masons, Knights of Columbus, Kiwanis, Rotary, Chambers of Commerce on city and state and national levels, ditto the National association of Manufacturers, labor unions with more than 50,000 locals, the professional societies, church groups beyond number, and the ward, precinct, district, city, state and national political organizations.

Through correspondence, meetings, conventions and pooling of common interests and efforts people in those groups have come to know and trust one another personally from coast to coast.

Unless well-crushed these organizations would provide, in many cases, the apparatus for an underground resistance which some day might break out in counter-revolution. It isn't pleasant to think of how the crushing would be done. It would be a vast job, involving many people.

But for any American Communist who'd take part in American liquidations the stories abroad about Communists' treatment of one another must sometimes be depressing if he wishes to live long himself.

For the Communists, like the female praying mantis which devours the male after mating and perpetuating the species, have a strange habit of liquidating one another as well as strangers after they come to power, a kind of admission that they don't trust themselves, either.

While this business of bumping one another off on grounds of treason to the party after a member has outlived his usefulness is a form of Communistic cannibalism, it shouldn't encourage the hope that in time all the Communists will have eliminated themselves.

Santa's No One-Night Show

In Holland, St. Nicholas visits the Dutch children with his little servant, Black Pete.

By ANNE LARSEN

Many an American child, settling down in bed on Christmas Eve, will wonder anxiously—like generations of small fry before him—how Santa Claus and his reindeer can possibly circle the globe in one short night, and how he can manage to slide down the chimney of every child in the world in the few hours between stocking hanging and wake-up time.

Junior America, as well as answerless parents, can relax. Santa's task isn't quite so formidable as it seems. This jolly old saint who gladdens the heart of children at the Yule season is a creature of many guises, and his is not a one-night show. He has, in fact, from Dec. 6 to Jan. 6 to make his benevolent rounds.

Among the first children visited by the gift-giver are the youngsters of Holland and Belgium. They reach their peak of excitement in the first few days of December, in anticipation of the feast day of St. Nicholas.

The saint himself arrives on the eve of the day, and, showing himself in his red bishop's robe and miter, checks in person the conduct of each child during the foregoing year.

His arrival is announced by a shower of sweets on a clean sheet that has previously been spread in readiness upon the floor. As the children scramble for the treats, he enters, accompanied by his little servant, Black Pete, who holds a sack and a rod for the naughty.

After delivering warnings or praises, according to the individual, Santa takes his leave, promising to return when infant eyes are closed fast in sleep.

This he does, leaving gifts in the wooden shoes that have been set out carefully on window sill or hearthstone, and taking care to remove the straw and carrots that thoughtful children have left in their footwear for St. Nick's hungry white horse.

In France, too, gifts are left in shoes, except in this country it is Petit Noel (the Christ Child), or Bonhomme Noel (Father Christmas), who rewards deserving little ones. In the small villages, children carry little candle-lighted creches through the streets, singing carols and collecting pennies.

Children's processions are an important feature of the Christmas celebration in Romania, too. From Dec. 24 through the 31st they march in the daytime bearing on a high pole a six-pointed star and tinkling bells and in the evening go about singing greetings, carrying long bags with which to receive gifts.

In Italy, pre-Christmas activities include much reciting of small poems or little speeches by youngsters. They join with their elders in the observance of the Holy Festival, which begins with the booming of a cannon at sunset on Christmas Eve.

After prayers, their fast is broken with a banquet, following which presents are drawn from an Urn of Fate. This is a time for joshing and suspense; many blanks may be drawn before a satisfactory package is fished from the urn.

These, however, are gifts of secondary importance. For their hearts' desires, Italian children set out their shoes on the evening of Jan. 5 for the convenience of La Befana, an old women dressed in rags and riding a broom-stick who comes with ashes for the bad, gifts for the good.

Shoes are put out in Spain, too, but it's the Three Kings or the Three Wise Men who arrive in the dark hours of Jan. 5 to distribute toys and goodies after small fry, weary of dancing to tambourines and singing Nativity songs, are sound asleep.

Don't Make Baby Playpen Into a Prison

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeatures

Too much supervision of young children can be as harmful as too little, according to Dr. George Wheatley, a vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in New York City.

"Don't make a prison of baby's play pen," he warns, "lest the child fail to learn home-accident prevention through experience."

You can't "over-isolate" a child to keep him out of harm's way, he asserts, because in some respects you will defeat your own purpose.

True, "parents should be constantly on the alert to prevent accidents, and they should do everything possible to educate their children in hazards of the home, particularly in the most dangerous rooms of all, the kitchen and the bathroom," but this does not mean "the child should not be given some opportunity to explore forbidden fields, provided mother keeps a wary eye on him and is quick to drive home the lesson of danger sharply by a businesslike slap as the child is caught in the act."

One of the most common forms of accidents are falls, says Dr. Wheatley. These occur at almost all ages from infancy up. If mother will train herself never to leave baby alone for a second while he is being bathed or fed, many such accidents will be prevented. "If you must answer the phone or the doorbell, put baby on the floor or take him with you. Once he has learned to crawl, you should train yourself to keep an eye on him while he crawls about the kitchen. And, above all, make sure dangerous fluids such as those used in cleaning are well out of his reach."

Continuing, Dr. Wheatley said, "the crawler must be kept safe from falling downstairs by bars at top and bottom, until he is old enough to climb safely."

A parent's most important job is to protect the child. But, equally important, says Dr. Wheatley is his responsibility to begin his education. By watching Junior's particular interests a parent can help him to do it right.

The play-pen has its uses, declares Dr. Wheatley, but for the most part these are outdoors. If more parents kept their children in such play pens there would be fewer accidents from drowning, vehicles and falls. But the play pen is merely a part-time device. It should be used only to get junior out from underfoot while mother does the housework.

Because children will get into scrapes and accidents parents should gain an education in first aid, Dr. Wheatley asserts.

Mother should know how to take care of a drowning child. She should have a ready reference to antidotes to poisons. She should know enough to turn a choking child upside down and slap him on the back. Above all, mother should learn to remain calm in an emergency, and this she will do if she has learned what to do when an emergency arises.

But no matter how careful a mother may be, accidents may occur, concludes the doctor. That in itself shouldn't make mother feel she has failed in her duty toward her child—provided she has learned something from her experience and can make something constructive out of it.

Malaria Strikes

JOHORE BAHRU, Malaya —(AP)—A malaria epidemic ravaged the village of Rengit and killed 134 persons before being stamped out, a Johore medical officer reports.

At one stage 80 per cent of the residents were infected with the disease. The epidemic started last January.

The Sun Cure

DURHAM, N. C. —(AP)— If you don't mind looking a little silly, a Duke university doctor has a "practical" remedy for throat infection that may be better than some of those new medical drugs.

Dr. Watt Eagle, ear, nose and throat specialist at Duke university, says that sulfonamides and other antibiotics are being used in general treatment of ear, nose and throat infections when more specific treatments will produce better results.

For instance: You can help beat a throat infection by exposing your throat to direct sunlight for five minutes morning and afternoon for several days. That's not all—after keeping your mouth open for the five minute-period you should then stick out your tongue for another similar period, being careful to expose the base of the tongue.

Dr. Eagle says the results from such solar therapy will be "amazing."

ALWAYS IN BUNCHES

Last spring a recent bride was proudly showing a friend her garden—the first she'd ever had. The friend, noticing several small green clusters at one end of the plot, asked what they were and was told they were radishes. "How interesting!" commented the friend. "Most gardeners plant them in rows."

"They do?" puzzled the bride. "That seems strange—they always come in bunches at the store."

Turkey Support

DES MOINES, Ia. —(AP)— The department of agriculture has indicated, in view of the record large turkey crop U.S. farmers are raising this year, that it intends to buy turkeys, if necessary, to keep the market from being overloaded.

The department has what it calls a "standby" program under which it would buy large size birds, and distribute them to schools, for lunches, and to some non-profit institutions.

Corduroy Keeps the Secret In New Maternity Styles

BY GAILE DUCAS,
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Corduroy, that warm and wonderful fabric, appears for winter in maternity dresses that combine a great deal of style with much practicality. Nothing about these fashion hints of maternity. With slight alterations, they can continue on in a wardrobe after the blessed event.

Narrow-wale corduroy is paired (left) with jersey in a two-tone dress by Stork Styles. A cummerbund provides for concealment. A beige jersey top has a dark green corduroy hib inset and overlaid by a jersey collar. Sleeves are widely cuffed in the corduroy. Shirt is straight with the necessary fullness centered at the waistline.

A navy corduroy jumper dress (right) in the narrow-wale has a pale green chiffon ascot tucked in at the neckline. Lapels are deep and rounded; sleeves are the merest caps. Standaway scalloped pockets have self-button trim. An adjustable belt that's self-covered and an elastic expansion underneath keep the secret. Skirt has a gentle fullness.

Not So Dumb

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — (AP)—Aborigines in Malaya slap a strong taboo on mother's-in-law.

No man may speak, sit, or eat with his mother-in-law. The reason isn't too clear, but the rule is sharp and firm, says Major P. D. R. Williams-Hunt, advisor on the aborigines.

Song to a Christmas Tree

By GAILE DUGAS

St. Boniface replaces sacrifices to idols with firtrees.

Had you been alive in the year 1851, you might have wanted a Christmas tree for the holidays.

But if you had been living in Cleveland, Ohio (or elsewhere, for that matter), and had put up a tree, you would have been boycotted in business, possibly threatened with discharge by your employer and otherwise placed under community pressure.

The Christmas tree, which we now take for granted, wasn't known in this country a hundred years ago. It was introduced first to the startled members of Cleveland's Zion Lutheran church by the Rev. Henry C. Schwan, their pastor.

He remembered nostalgically the Christmas trees of his youth in Germany. The tree was prettily decorated wtih candles, apples, gilt, tinsel and candies.

Its effect on Clevelanders was immediate and electric. The tree threw the town into an uproar. But despite the high feeling about it, the Reverend Schwan and his flock had another tree the next year. First, Clevelanders got used to the idea, then they took it to heart.

Though the practice of having a tree as part of the Christmas celebration is thus only a century old in this country, it dates much farther back in Europe. St. Boniface, an English monk living around 700 A. D., brought the custom with him to Germany when he was sent there as a missionary.

He replaced the sacrifices to idols with fir trees adorned in honor of the Christ child. This custom came from early tree worship and is also related to the laurel of the Romans and many pre-Christian festivals.

Eventually, that became a German custom traveled back to England, in 1841, by means of Prince Albert, husband of Queen Victoria. The German prince had a Christmas tree at the palace that year and soon English families were imitating the royal family.

In Seventeenth Century France, travelers reported seeing Christmas trees beautifully decorated with roses made of colored paper, apples, wafers, gold foil and sugar. And Paris, the City of Light, can lay claim to having had the very first community Christmas tree at the Tuileries around 1840.

The beauty of the tree has made people see it as a symbol of goodwill and joy. There are even songs in its honor. One of the oldest of these, and the best known, is the German: "O, Christmas Tree" (O. Tannebaum). To the familiar melody, its lyrics run "O, Christmas Tree, O, Christmas Tree, how sturdy God hath made thee!"

Thus, no matter what the color of the tree you bring home this year—blue, pink, white or the traditional green—you're following a custom dating to the druids and made merry and bright through the passing of years.

Baby Gets Break

NEW YORK, (AP)—Air Force Sergeant David Callahan of Brooklyn got more than he bargained for when he and two service buddies hit the jackpot on NBC's television show, "Break the Bank."

They hit for $1,500. In trying to figure out what to do with their windfall, the other two, Army Sergeant Bill Downs, Elkins, W. Va., and Marine Pfc. Joe Kling, Lakewood, N.J., discovered that Callahan was in a bad way financially. He had debts and his wife was expecting. Downs and Kling decided to chip in part of their winnings to help out.

Result: The baby will have two GI godfathers.

Economy Weak

JAKARTA, Indonesia, (AP)—In spite of record prices paid on war-jittery world markets for Indonesian tin, rubber and oil, Indonesian's economic position is weak. This was stated this week by the head of the Directorate for Trade and Industry of the Ministry of Economic Affairs. He was addressing a conference of economic officials.

"Any drop in prices being paid for our main export products would seriously harm Indonesia's emonomy," he said.

Winds Hit Corn

DES MOINES, Ia., (AP)—Hervey Hazen, Iowa chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration, says early report indicate "tremendous amounts" of corn are on the ground as a result of recent high winds.

The storm was the most damaging to the corn crop since the bad wind storm in October, 1949, during which so much of the crop, already seriously shaken by corn borers, was knocked over.

THE YEAR BEFORE
THANKSGIVING

Tradition tells us that the first Thanksgiving Day was in 1621, a year after the Mayflower landed, when the initial harvest was in. We think tradition is wrong. For we can be sure that the Pilgrims celebrated Thanksgiving in 1620 . . . that in the midst of an unknown wilderness they thanked God for a safe voyage to a land where they might live as free men and women.

GIFTS OF LIVING BOTH LUXURIOUS PRACTICAL

BY ANNE LARSEN

For those on your list whose home is the hub of existence there are no nicer presents than those which add to the graciousness of living.

Whether yours is the practical sort of nature that measures each prospective choice by a standard of everyday use, or whether yours is the kind of personality that uses Christmas as an excuse to splurge a bit on luxury, there are home gifts in plenty to suit your taste.

Some manage to combine practicality with a look of elegance. Ranking high in this category is a portable silver file. It's gleaming brocade-like plastic is sufficiently handsome to thrill any homemaker on Christmas morning.

It has many step-saving properties. You can carry it right along with you in the crook of your arm when you set the table. Ladies will find the ohurs of silver polishing saved by its tarnish-proof linings are enough to endear it permanently to its lucky recipient.

A new roast holder is another item created primarily to ease a practical problem, but its sleek, handsome design endows it with a functional beauty as well.

With this carving aid, the man who must struggle with the roast each Sunday, can secure the meat while he slices it, and then, with the same implement, serve each portion. Fork prongs on the holder make it possible to eliminate the old routine of shifting about with two carving utensils.

For those who like to keep up with what's going on there are two gifts that are sure to please.

If the inquiring mind on your Christmas list focuses his curiosity upon the weather, then a desk thermometer which registers not only the heat and the cold, but the humidity as well, is a likely choice. This handsome easel-type thermometer features a clear plastic dial, lettered in white, with a reflecting back of polished chrome.

If time is the matter of greatest concern for the curious on your list, then they'd probably find helpful a desk memo to which is attached a tiny hour-glass timer to measure for them the minutes of their telephone conversations.

Other features of this handy gadget are a pencil which clings by magnetic action to the side of the memo box when not in use, and, concealed beneath a fold-back hood, a perpetual calendar and a secret compartment for keys, stamps or paper clips. This is available both in genuine and imitation leather.

In those homes where hospitality, and the graceful serving of guests is an important part of living, a new tea or coffee pot might be a welcome gift.

For tea-drinkers, there's a charming two - spouted tea-pot, which makes it possible to transport both the brew and the hot water for diluting it to individual taste. Separate compartments do the trick. You have a choice of canary, cobalt blue, ivory, maroon or Chinese red.

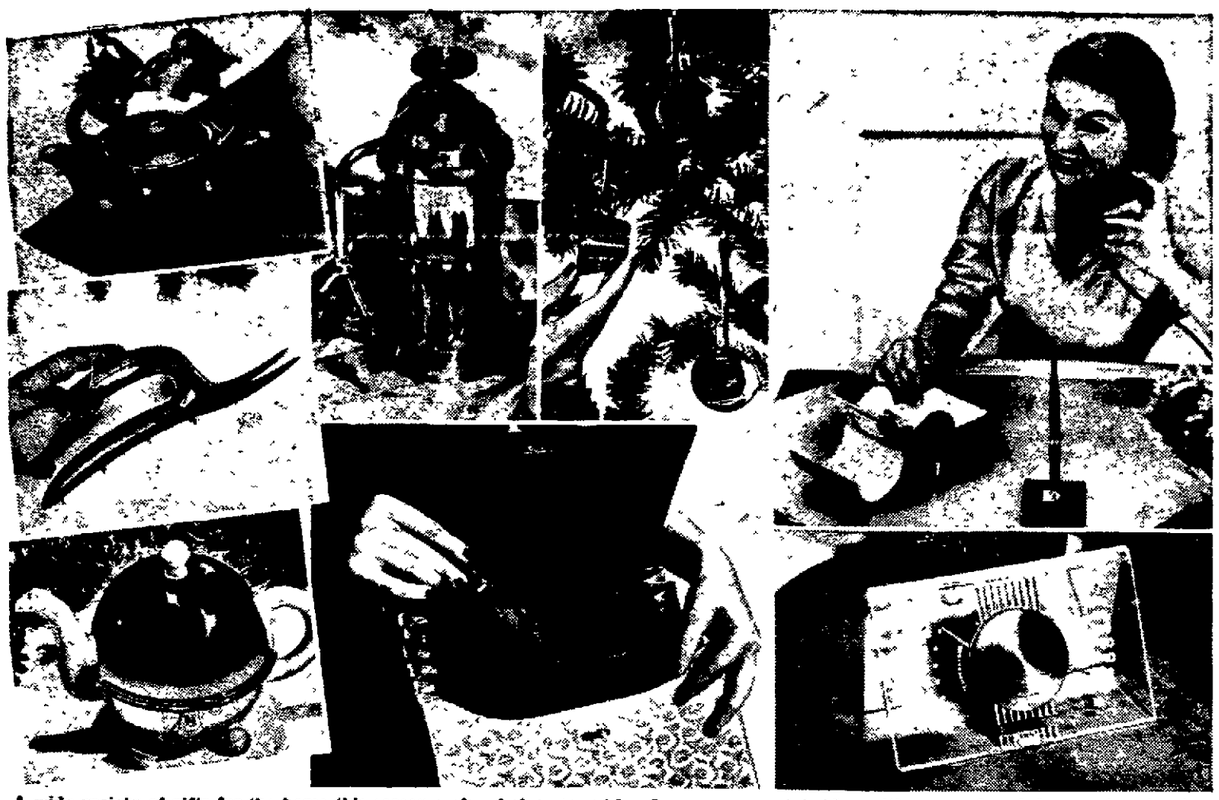
Also handy for tea-drinkers who like the beverage hot—the second cup as well as the first—is a round little tea pot which fits snugly into its own felt-lined chrome shell. The ivory earthenware pot lifts right out of the shell—today's improvement on grandmother's tea cozy—for washing.

A new treat is in store for coffee-lovers who've never owned a cafe expresso. This coffeemaker, which includes a smal built-in alcohol burner for brewing the beverage is excellent either for making demi-tasse in the presence of guests, or for picnics.

Available in several sizes, these attractive little Italian imports use powdered coffee of any kind—Italian, French or American.

Butter pipkins are a good choice for that inevitable name on your list that "has everything." These tiny tin-lined copper pans, which look as if they were designed for the use of Tom Thumb, are surprisingly handy for a variety of uses.

Not only can they be used for melting butter, but also for serving sauces in individual portions, or even for ashtrays, cigarette containers, or after-dinner dishes.



A wide variety of gifts for the home this season make choices easy both for the practicalist and for the donor who likes a bit of luxury and extravagance. For tea and coffee lovers there is a twin-spouted teapot (upper left), an ivory earthenware teapot in its felt-lined, heat-retaining chrome cozy (lower left), or an imported-from-Italy cafe expresso machine (upper center left). Useful as well as handsome are roast holder with pronged end for serving (center left), diminutive butter pipkins which lend themselves to many purposes (upper center right), a portable silver file of brocade-like plastic (lower center), a desk memo with hour-glass timer for limiting telephone calls (upper right) and a desk thermometer which marks humidity as well as heat and cold (lower right).

Punctual Ducks

MT. VERNON, Ill., (AP)—Those flat-billed ducks flew south over Southern Illinois right on schedule again. R. A. Patrick Jr., who has kept a record of their comings and goings, said the ducks arrived on Oct. 30 for the 12th year in the past 14. He's unable to figure out why they keep that date.

KEEPING COOL

Shortly after noon one sweltering August day, the air conditioned train in which I was crossing the Midwest stopped at a little town where eight buxom matrons came aboard. They found seats opposite each other, efficiently set out lapboards and playing cards and settled down to bridge. Many hands later they packed up, got off the train and the last I saw of them they were entering an air-conditioned station restaurant. I had noticed that each woman gave the conductor a pass slip, indicating that her husband was a railway employe, so I asked him about the group.

"That's a weekly performance in summer," he said. "They eat lunch at that restaurant, and catch the next train back—goes through there in about 45 minutes and gets 'em home at 5:30. What you saw, was the Thursday Bridge Club keepin' cool."

—Christmas Cards. A fine new selection of cards may be seen at the Dixon Evening Telegraph office.

Imagination Makes a Banquet Board

A contrast in region as well as in mood is offered by these two table settings. The warm Christmases of the South are suggested by quietly-elegant arrangement of camellias and holly which repeat the green-and-white color scheme set by two-tone china, monogrammed napkins and net-over-felt table covering. The stark beauty of glittering icicles on bare black limbs, complemented by clean-lined modern china, silver and glassware (left) is suitable for Yule season in the snowy North

BY ANNE LARSEN

Christmas dinner in many homes this year will no doubt feel the sharp edge of the high cost of living, with lavish touches of yesteryear lopped off the traditional menu as unnecessary trifles.

There's no need, however, for the air of festivity to be lacking from your table simply because stuffed pork chops must be substituted for your usual suckling pig. Imaginative table decorations can make any meal a feast.

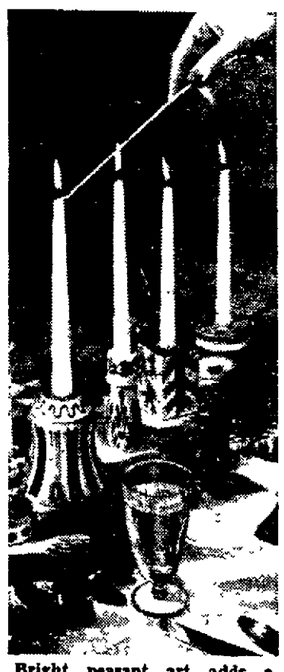
Converting your dinner table into a banquet board need not strain your already overstretched budget. Highly effective arrangements can be concocted from what you find discarded in the attic or the garage, tucked away in your Chirstmas-decoration box, or growing in your own back yard.

If you've an old table in decrepit condition, you can salvage enough raw material to create one of the most ingenious arrangements ever praised by family or friends. Simply saw the legs into appropriate lengths, and convert them into candle holders.

To make these wooden candlesticks, drill a hole in one end to fit the candle and square off the other end so that it will stand firm and level.

The next step, according to Peter Hunt, Provincetown artist who originated this idea, is to sit down with a paint brush and several cans of paint, and simply let your artistic instincts lead you in whatever direction they will.

The brighter the colors you choose, the gayer your candlesticks will look; the more lavish your designs, the more fitting to the general abandonment of the season.



Bright peasant art adds a touch of holiday gaiety to these candle-holders, which were fashioned from sections of old, discarded table legs.

A table setting traditionally Southern in feeling may be created by a festive-minded hostess at very little cost. The tablecloth used in the elegantly-simple arrangement is of dark green felt, which is covered with an over-layer of white net to set the color scheme.

The felt is allowed to hang to the floor, giving the table an air of Victorian opulence that harmonizes well with the rich design of the sterling flatware. The net, which overhangs the table edge by about ten inches, is scalloped around its border. A small plate is an excellent aid in creating this scalloped design..

The striking green and white are repeated in a garland of holly and white camellias which is twined the length of the table. Artificial snow, sprinkled upon the green, adds a touch of restrained glitter. Christmas roses, or any white December flower, may be substituted for the camellias.

The same feeling of tasteful richness is carried out in the china which is bordered with a jade-colored band, in the handsome water goblets, and in the monogrammed napkins of linen damask.

The icy breath of the North wind is suggested in a table setting appropriate for a hearty Yankee dinner. The bare branch of a tree, treated with molten plastic to simulate, very realistically, icicles is thrust upright in a bank of living ivy which has been touched here and there with silver paint. A cluster of silver Christmas balls further highlights this simple centerpiece.

Plain white china, including a service plate banded in platinum, harmonizes well with the mood of icy brilliance set by the table decoration. With this simple modern china is used clean-lined but handsome flatware in a morning star pattern and water goblets of stark, uncluttered beauty.

Canadian Wolves

DRYDEN, Ont. —(AP)—Robert Bunney and John McArthur, paper company employes, came face to face with a pack of 12 wolves in the Kekewa Lake area. The pack, however, scattered quickly when McArthur opened fire on the lead wolf.

Jalopyp Heaven

PROVIDENCE, R. I —(AP)—If your old jalopy is cranky and has been acting up under the stresses of urban life, maybe you ought to retire it to Prudence Island in Narragansett Bay where it can spend its declining years in peace and quiet.

Real oldies are just the thing on Prudence Island There are no roads, no need for an operator's license or insurance, and no charge for registration because Prudence cars are not registered with the state of Rhode Island.

Your car will bump along on driftways, a fancy name for cowpath. Fifteen miles of driftways wander around the small island. Bulldozers, a scraper and grader keep the driftways in good shape. The driftways serve 30 cars, all second-hand, and another 100 belonging to summer visitors. Most of those are second-hand too.

It costs $7.50 to ferry a car over to the island Few ever return

If you're planning to serve liver and onions for a family meal, you'll find three large onions (one pound) wil be adequate for two pounds of liver.

But a Warm Heart

MONTREAL, (AP) — Mrs. James Houston, wife of Canadian Artist Jim Houston, doesn't think of the Artic as a vast, cold wasteland of ice and snow.

After eight months in the Northland, Mrs. Houston is more impressed by the warm-hearted, hospitable people who live in snow huts and look mainly to hunting and fishing for their living. "They're such an honest, cheerful people."

With the backing of the Canadian government, the Canadian Handicraft Guild and the co-operation of the Hudson's Bay co., Mr. and Mrs. Houston bring back products of Eskimo culture-carvings, leatherwork and woodwork.

Lost and Found

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. —(AP)—When Alan Jorgenson found a wallet on a store counter he promptly turned it over to police. George Flaig gratefully claimed the wallet which contained his life savings of $1,100.

Teens Can Make a Lot of Christmas

By ANNE LARSEN

Teen-agers who are faced with the problem each Christmas of stretching a short budget over a long gift list often feel that inexpensive is synonymous with cheap. Your presents need not look that way at all, if you're willing to start your holiday planning early enough to allow your creative talent to get into the act.

Almost any male on your list would be pleased with a tie with a custom-made look about it. A gray flannel one, adorned with machine-worked coin-dots in a lighter tone of gray, is sure to win his praise and pride.

One of your dad's old ties can serve as a pattern. Pin this guide to your new fabric and cut, making sure the old tie is placed on the bias of the fabric. Roll and baste a quarter-inch hem on both ends of the tie, and machine stitch in place.

Add your polka dots before folding the tie. To make the dots quickly and easily, use the new stitching technique for machine embroidery. You don't need a special attachment. Simply drop the feed of your sewing machine, and thread the bobbin with embroidery thread. Use silk on the spool pin for your upper threading, and you're ready to make your dots, moving the needle in a spiral stitch.

If you're a novice at sewing, expert guidance in learning this and other techniques for decorative stitching may be obtained at your local sewing center.

When your dots are all completed, fold your tie, following the original fold line of your pattern, turn under the raw edges of fabric, and slip-stitch both sides together.

A bright plaid tobacco pouch is a good choice for the pipe smoker on your list, and very simple to make.

Begin by purchasing—for the lining—a plain commercially-made tobacco holder, of plastic or oiled silk. Then measure the length of this liner, remembering to add additional inches for the part that folds up to form the pocket.

Next measure the width, and add one and a half inches to both measurements for hems. Cut a rectangle this size from a sturdy plaid fabric, and, turning under all raw edges one-quarter inch, machine-stitch around its outlines.

When this is finished, pin the plaid material to the plastic pouch, folding the fabric edges over the plastic one-half inch all around. Machine-stitch in place, and the job is done.

A bok cover should please those friends, or members of your family, who are students or collectors of special volumes. These, as you know from making brown-paper covers back in your grade-school days, are easy to concoct. Use a standard school book or a favorite volume borrowed from their shelves to get necessary measurements.

Make the cover of a gay, sturdy fabric, and, for a decorative touch, choose a bright-colored yarn and whip-stitch by hand around all outer edges of the cover.

Almost any girl whose wardrobe is comprised of skirts and sweaters or tailored dresses would appreciate a belt made from grosgrain ribbon and ordinary hinges from the hardware store.

Open the hinges out flat and thread narrow red grosgrain through the holes in each end, stitching on wrong side to hold. Thread narrow green grosgrain through center holes, across the hinge joint.

Then sew the hinges to the wide black grosgrain in a geometric pattern, using the gold ribbon to form a border that repeats the tawny color of the hinges and accents the black ribbon. Close with snaps. A matching bracelet can be made in similar fashion, from measurements fitted to the individual wrist.

An attractive jabot for your mother can be made from velvet ribbon which has been looped up at each end to conceal cut edges. Strips of rhinestone trimming, available at notion counters, add twinkle.

Interesting gifts may also be made from woven-straw mats, according to Dorothy Layfield Murray, who is noted for her designs in this material.

An inexpensive photograph album may be glorified by folding mats around the front and back covers, and, on the front, hand-stitching designs appropriate to the recipient's interests.

A handsome desk blotter may be made by stitching together two mats, and adding both name and decorative trim of millinery braid. A commercial blotter, in a shade to match the braid, is slipped inside. A pencil holder may be made from a strip of matting, a circle of cork for the bottom, and braid fastened into place with carpet tacks.

Scraping Bottom

SOUTHAMPTON, England — (AP)—Contractors have dredged some five million tons of mud from the approaches to Southampton, making the risk of big liners grounding off the port "extremely remote," the harbor committee stated.

Awkward curves have been ironed from the approach channels where the liner Queen Elizabeth was grounded 26 hours in 1947. In one place the width of the channel has been increased from 1,650 feet to 2,500 feet.

If you wish to preserve your linens, avoid allowing your sheets to whip on the line in a strong wind. It's also poor policy to jerk sheets forcibly from the line after they have frozen stiff.

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures

Christmas is the time when kids who've been separated from each other by school and studies can get together with thier pals for holiday festivities. It is wonderful, of course, if you can be on the receiving end of an invitation. But it is fun also to give a party. It does take work— you can't expect your guests to entertain themselves. They must be made comfortable and happy every minute they are in your home.

So if you do plan a party at Christmas, be sure the invitation's are pretty, decorations are in the spirit of the day, food is satisfying and entertainment is planned to keep the guests amused. You should have some new Christmas records for dancing, and some for singing carols.

If you want to insure having people accept your invitation, make sure it is pretty and really inviting. You can make a lovely star or small Christmas stocking Yule tree ornament design out of red or white or green mat paper. Then you can write your invitation on it in either white, red or green ink.

Decorations need not be expensive. Pick up some trailing ground pine in the woods or buy similar vines at the florist and decorate your fireplace or hang a garland at the door. You'll find fresh greens are prettier and less expensive than the crepe paper kind. A row of red, white and green candles across the fireplace or placed on the piano or radio cabinet will lend another touch of Yule to your home.

While it is fun to sit down at a table, it is lots more fun and easier on the hostess to serve a buffet supper. But if you do sit down, cookie place cards would surely make a hit. You'll need a large soft cookie, narrow ribbon, a paper doily, colored sugar and water frosting (2 tablespoons of sugar to 1½ teaspoons of water).

Place cookie on doily. Thread darning needle with ribbon and sew the cookie to the doily. You can do this if you are careful to stick the needle through with ribbon all the way and then back again. Leave about five inches of ribbon ends on each side of the cookie which you will tie in a bow. Dip a toothpick in frosting to write the name on the cookie.

If you are working on a skimpy budget, serve foods which have plenty of bulk and are filling. You can cream hardboiled eggs and serve them on rice, and that is always a nice inexpensive dish. Add some green pepper and pimento and the dish will take on a Yuletide flavor. You can cook the creamed eggs in advance, and have them all ready to serve just by heating with a little additional milk. Hot buns or rolls are good with this dish.

Ashton Church Holds Planning Meet Wednesday

Toys this Christmas, designed for quiet, self-sufficient play, are good news for parents as well as youngsters. Outstanding among many do-things dolls is glossy-tressed one with own hair-tinting kit (upper left) and a cuddly three-faced infant leaning against elaborate canopied bed. A piano which produces a tune when banged in proper rhythm, a book with real zippers and shoe strings to instruct small-fry in self-dressing, a stereoscope with nursery-tale cards, and a boxcar toy chest (upper right) are other eye-catchers among this season's offerings. A telephone switchboard (lower extreme left), a car which shows the workings of plastic pistons through its transparent hood (lower left), luminous stuffed animals which glow reassuringly in the dark (lower right), and snap-on plastic blocks (lower right) are also news in the toy world. These sturdily-designed toys are a boon for the hard-to-interest child.

By ANNE LARSEN

There are things in Santa's bag this year for parents as well as small-fry. Mostly they're intangibles—such as peace-and-quiet and elimination of messy clean-up jobs. They are the result of the careful forethought and improved design that have gone into this year's toys.

Although there are still plenty of rip-roaring items like cowboy guns and atomic rockets, there is a new emphasis on toys for quiet, self-sufficient play. A three-dimensional, toy-like effect is gained when a treasure-chest puzzle contains a nook for hiding make-believe golden coins; or when a fire engine puzzle is finished off with a wheel and axle that actually move.

New bedtime toys that help increase a child's sense of security at lights-out time include a soft, stuffed zebra or a whimsical giraffe in bright pink and white. A luminescent finish causes these animals to glow reassuringly through the gloom.

There's a wide choice of music box animals to lull youngsters to sleep. A poodle with a French sailor or cap is very restrained with a rendition of Brahms lullabies.

Dolls continue last year's trend toward the complicated and unusual. This season's talking doll holds forth in not one, but three, languages. Walking dolls are mechanized to take steps automatically as small hands lead them along.

Coiffures still occupy the imagination of doll manufacturers. One long-haired beauty comes complete with instructions for arranging her locks in styles inspired by a famous New York hairdresser.

Another is fitted with her own set of hair tints. She changes from blonde to gleaming bronze to carrot-top in a twinkling. The tints are harmless vegetable colorings which will not stain fabrics or rugs, makers claim, and which may be washed out with soap and water.

Also ingenious are a boy-doll, designed for non-sissy male youngsters who none-the-less like to play papa, with eyes that refuse to punch in no matter how hard an exploring finger punches, and a three-faced doll that turns a smiling, sleeping or crying visage to the world with the simple twisting of a knob on the top of her head. Not-in-use faces are concealed inside cuddly hoods.

As beds for these fabulous creations you may choose from old-fashioned elegance—a four-poster complete with canopy, dust ruffle and chenille spread—or modern distinction—a Hollywood bed with upholstered headboard.

Parents should welcome a non-banging piano. No matter what keys are pressed, or how many simultaneously, a music-roll sort of device insures a tuneful result—provided the youngster can be coaxed to bang in the rhythm of one of four familiar nursery melodies.

Among toys that contribute to knowledge, skill or career-interests is an ingenious little car that shows, through its clear plastic hood, the workings of four variegated plastic pistons. The opaque rear end of the car may be removed to instruct fledgling mechanics in the mysteries of gears as well. Another car, operated by remote control, teaches youngsters the principles of steering and gauging distances.

Also in this category is a telephone switchboard which buzzes in a satisfactorily realistic manner when plugs are properly inserted.

New blocks are particularly attractive. Snap blocks, which fasten together with grippers similar to those used on children's clothes, offer a new principle of building as well as bright unusual colors in shiny plastic.

Then there are snow blocks, reminiscent of Victorian paper weights. A bit of gentle shaking stirs up a wintry, swirling storm. These are a delight to parents who are accustomed to the crunch of toys beneath heedless young feet; these particular blocks are strong enough to withstand the weight of a man.

A box-car toy chest, which rolls noiselessly about the house on rubber wheels makes a game of pick-up time.

Little Man's Break

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. —(AP)— Houses in lower price ranges will comprise a higher percentage of homes built in 1952 than in 1951, the Committee on Economic Trends reported to the United States Savings and Loan League in its 59th annual convention.

William E. Taylor, president of the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association of Cleveland, O., who is chairman of the committee, predicted an increase in lower-priced building "because of the much more favorable terms provided under revised credit regulations for houses priced at $12,000 or less."

Congressmen Tour

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Two American congressmen passed through Singapore from Bangkok en route to Australia. They were Rep. Monroe Redden of North Carolina and Rep. Fred L. Crawford of Michigan. They are members of the house committee on interior and insular affairs. With them was Irwin Silverman, chief counsel, office of territories, department of interior.

Hooray! Spanking's Back in Style

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As a devout believer in cycles, I had been awaiting with ill-concealed impatience the return of the old-fashioned spanking.

It has come—and I must have been looking the other way. It now appears that, for some months, the administration of mild corporal punishment in certain designated areas of the youthful body is, once again, looked upon with favor by the experts.

So far, I haven't had a chance to bone up on the exact limitations which accompany this most recent revolution in theory. It is, of course, heartening to know that an instinctive reaction to an apparent disciplinary need in Grandmother's day has the modern aseptic seal of approval.

All I hope is that it hasn't come too late. Yesterday's approved method—the free rein and the soft answer—of handling young 'uns was supposed to assure the emergence of the child into life with unfractured security, intact ego and superb self-confidence. What the system has done to adults—including those outside the perimeter enclosing parents and off-spring—shouldn't happen to a person without the price of a series of psychiatric treatments.

Modern children, brought up under what now seem to be the mistakenukases of the experts, may be free souls. (Even this is debatable, as it now appears.) But the system certainly has raised hob with security, ego, self-confidence and, most of all, disposition of grownups in the vicinity.

As I understand it, all the old-fashioned remedies for youthful wrongdoing are back in favor. Mischievous, ill-tempered small fry may be walloped upon occasion, provided the administering parent is not in a black fury at the time.

It is even permitted to bundle a young offender off to bed without supper—under certain conditions. All this, the experts now explain, is healthy in that it "clears the air," While not disturbing the delicate balance of family relations.

I hope the experts also have removed the awkward ban on the use of the negative (as in "No, you can't have another piece of candy!" or "Get away from that buzz saw, you little idiot.") in dealing with children.

Trying to cope with modern methods in dealing with children is a major problem of the well-intentioned neighbor who seeks to protect himself yet at the same time observe the procedures of parents in correct child upbringing. In my own neighborhood (and, conversation leads me to believe, almost all others) youngsters roam like prides of lions and with about the same destructive results. Maybe the word hasn't reached there yet, but I don't think any of them has ever been invited into the wood shed by a stern father.

When they took to building bonfires on top of my bulb plantings, I was not one to invite frustration. I just strung barbed wire around the bank and gave them a lecture on the function of the metal barrier. So they started to build a tree-house in my favorite apple.

When they were torturing a tomcat by tossing him merrily in the brook, I rescued the cat. Then I explained why they should be gentle with cats. The next day they were tossing a dog into the brook.

When burning leaves in my driveway, I kept a civil tongue in my head as they tried to see who could stand closest to the flame. I tried to explain about fire and boys and girls. They paid no attention until I charged them with the rake.

But now I can't wait. If the heat's off the hairbrush and the razor strop, I can revise my own tactics in dealing with these young demons. I don't know how it will affect their formative years, but it's sure going to do my own disposition a world of good.

This Christmas belle becomes queen of the ball with this bubble crown which glitters with king's ransom magnificence at penny-bank cost. Self-stem Christmas tree ornaments and silver pipe cleaners are only materials needed for this regal hair accessory.

Money Hideout

WATERLOO, Ill. —(AP)— A moldy cache of money—$1,335—tumbled out of an old stove at an estate's auction recently. The $5's, $10's and $20's were the large bills the treasury quit printing years ago. The money was added to the estate of Andrew Stewart, Hecker, Ill., bachelor, whose property was being auctioned.

Costly Lapses

COLUMBUS, O. —(AP)— State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson claims the state of Ohio is losing $400,000 a year because drivers have poor memories.

That's because new Ohio drivers' licenses are good for three years and expire every three birthdays. Previously all licenses had to be renewed during the same period every year. Ferguson claims thousands of drivers have failed to get driving permits because they can't remember when the old ones run out. Before, they were reminded daily by newspapers and radio stations during the regular renewal period.

Juvenile Gamblers

SINGAPORE, (AP)—A drive is underway against juvenile gamblers. The youngsters, who rarely are above 15, set up stalls in alleys and footpaths and start roulette and "wheel of fortune" games.

First offenders face loss of apparatus and cash in hand. Other offenders can be fined up to $100.

KEEPING UP

Into a store featuring western clothing in Phoenix, Ariz., walked a determined-looking young man. "I want a cowboy outfit," he said to a clerk. "Hat, shirt, pants, boots, guns, holsters—everything. And I want the kind that will really impress my four-year-old boy."

"Will size four be right?" the clerk asked. "Or does he wear a size six?"

"No. I want them for myself. I'm tired of playing second-fiddle with my son to every cowboy in the movies!"

TAKES INCHES OFF HIPS AND WAISTLINE WITH LOOZ
By Kay Kavannaugh
Newest of formulas recently brought to light by Medical Science is LOOZ, a preparation for taking fat off Hips and Waistline.
For many who have tried "reducing treatments" and who have lost faith in them because of exaggerated claims and ineffectual results, LOOZ brings new hope.
Simply take 2 tablets A.M. & P.M. and see if your clothes don't fit and look more attractive, especially around fat spots such as hips, waist, abdomen, etc. No strict diet or exercise is required.

No More Pegs

DES MOINES, Ia — (AP) — Louis Peterson, 29, who got tired of losing the pegs of his cribbage board, has invented one without pegs

Peterson has obtained a patent on the pegless board. It consists of two transparent plastic dials One dial revolves under the other against a clock-like face.

Use of two dials permits the setting of each dial alternately so the players can tell not only how far they've gone, but where they started the 1st count.

Peterson now is hunting for a manufacturer

Stir the Corn

DES MOINES, Ia, (AP)—Those persons familiar with the problems of insects in stored corn believe that considerable amounts of fumigant could be saved and the chore of spraying avoided by doing some stirring of stored corn

Dr. Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Ames, told bin inspectors to stir the top of the corn in their bins If that is done, the insect population will be disturbed and, with cold weather coming on, the insects will become inactive and die during the winter

CAPSULE PERFUME

One new perfume is now packaged like your favorite vitamin pills. The perfume is incased in sort of a gelatin-like capsule and can't leak, spill, evaporate or deteriorate, according to the manufacturer. All you do is hold one of the little capsules and squeeze The liquid flows out gently on palm or handkerchief

Candle Power

URBANA, (AP) — Use Fourth of July Roman candles to get rid of noisy flocks of starlings or blackbirds, suggests the University of Illinois experts.

The university wildlife service says shoot the Roman candles just before it gets dark and the birds then will have only light enough left to fly elsewhere for the night It adds that two or three nights of this should scare the birds away for good.

The problem of arranging short-stemmed flowers becomes less acute if you try this trick Place crumpled paper in the bottom of the vase to lift the blossoms to proper height. In the case of crystal or see-through colored glass, cellophane paper is an inconspicuous aid

COMPENSATION

If I were standing to be judged
Before the great white throne,
Where I could hear the righteous sing
And hear the sinners moan;
I'd want no greater advocate
To make my final plea
Than just a boy who'd say, "Gee,
"He did a lot for me!"

A GOOD REASON

My daughter's third-grade teacher, Old Conroy," as almost everyone in town called her, had been the dragon of the school of 20 years What particularly enraged her was to be called out of the room and return to find her pupils laughing and talking One day however she came back to find her classroom strangely peaceful—the children were sitting erect at their desks, hands primly folded Miss Conroy's jaw dropped and she demaned "How did this happen?"

Slowly a dimpled hand went up 'Well' said an eight-year-old blonde timidly but expectantly, 'you told us once that if you ever left the room and came and found us quiet—you'd drop dead!"

HE LOOKS IT

A father was very angry about the poor marks on his son's report card. "I wish you wouldn't be so hard on him," soothed his wife. "The boy's trying, and—"

"Oh, it really isn't the marks I mind so much," interrupted the father "It's the deception. Why the dickens does he have to look so bright?"
